OFFERS TO HELP TOWNS SECURE NEW BUSINESS

Pennsylvania Railroad Makes Announcement to Trades Bodies.

ASKS FOR INFORMATION

Calls on Inland Cities and Towns for Statements of Inducements and Local Advantages for Companies Seeking New Locations.

To stimulate Boards of Trade and other organizations of business men in inland cities and towns to greater activity toward securing new industries, the Pennsylvania Railroad announces that it stands ready to co-operate with and extend its best help to any community that is endeavoring to strengthen itself along the lines in question. In other words, the Pennsylvania Railroad asks to be advised as to local advantages of cities and towns, such as Bellefonte, in order that it may inform companies seeking new locations. The plan is a most worthy one and the Pennsylvania Railroad is to be commended for its offer.

Put into effect, the plan as outlined by the Pennsylvania Railroad, would be for the business men of Bellefonte, as an illustration, to prepare a statement showing such advantages and inducements as this town has to offer and forward this to W. J. Rose, Division Freight Agent, at Harrisburg. With this information at hand, the Pennsylvania Railroad will be able to advise individuals or companies seeking new locations. Through its vast business connections the Pennsylvania Railroad is in position to learn of this in advance of any small city or town. The matter is one which should command the close study and favorable consideration of the business men of Bellefonte, for on their shoulders, in large measure, rests the question of inspiring greater activity in local business circles.

Mr. Rose has addressed to trades bodies in the several cities and towns in Pennsylvania a letter entitled "Suggestions for Boards of Trade Seeking to Promote Local Development." The announcement by the Pennsylvania Railroad to these bodies concludes with the following:

"The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has enlisted for the war and will co-operate with you as far as it consistently can, if you will now and periodically hereafter, take account of stock and keep the undersigned fully informed as to the local advantages and other inducements you have to offer, to those seeking location for new enterprises."

Quoting Woodworth Clum, Editor of "Town Development," who recently made an address before the Lancaster, Pa., Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Rose's letter says:

"To promote successfully and solve the problem of local development, each of you must consider it as you do your individual business. What would it profit a manufacturer to erect a modern plant, equipped with the best up-to-date machinery and producing the best of a needed product, if he stored it in his warehouse and let it go at that?

"The community has something to sell; vacant building lots for houses, stores, warehouses or industrial plants or similiar plants for rent or sale; merchants and manufacturers to be patronized and professional citizens to consult and a destiny to determine. The shelves of the local wareroom are filled with the commodity called local advantages. Is this stock covered with the dust of years or hidden by a curtain of cobwebs and have its owners forgotten their warehouse and its saleable contents?

"In these modern days of keen civic competition the handle of the big front door of that warehouse must be polished and the dust and cobwebs banished and the world advised of the quality, nature and utility of these wares, by advertising and exploiting them as we do in private business. For what is true of it, is equally and in greater degree true of the community's interest, for without active co-operation neither can thrive hence the campaign of local promotion and development is no longer optional. There are three essentials to mental activity. First, to interest; second, to convince; third, to force action. Every citizen worthy the name is interested and it is comparatively easy to convince him of the necessity for action if supremacy is to be won, but the difficulty is reached in forcing action. You can hold meetings, talk things over and agree upon what should be done, but the fighting volunteers are usually few and the majority are prone to shift the burden of work and worry to other shoulders, for-

NEW LIGHT & POWER CO. MAY ENTER BELLEFONTE

Scootac Company Plans Extending System Beyond Lock Haven.

WANTS OLD GREEN MILL

Offer Said to Have Been Made for Property at Milesburg Owned by Bellefonte Borough—May Extend System to State College.

The Scootac Light, Heat & Power Company, which is securing franchises for operating between Lock Haven and Jersey Shore, contemplates extending its system from Lock Haven to Roopsburg and possibly to State College. The company is engaged in the sale of electric light and electric motive power.

It is said that the company is figuring on securing the Green mill property, at Milesburg and also the old dam, at Howard, as connecting link stations should it be decided to extend the system toward Bellefonte. Just how far the negotiations have gone has not been disclosed by these in position to know.

Last week the company secured a franchise from the Lock Haven borough council to enter that city and erect poles and wires on the streets and alleys for the transmission of electric current for furnishing light, heat and power. At the same time a franchise was also granted the Lock Haven & Jersey Shore Railroad Company to build and operate a single track street railway on certain streets in Lock Haven. The two companies are under the same control.

A provision of the ordinance passed for the Scootac Light, Heat & Power Company is that every person, firm, company or corporation within the city limits shall be supplied, upon application, the same equal and uniform rate and without discrimination at a scale of prices to be based upon the quantity used. The company also is to provide the city free of cost, light for the several municipal offices. The company is required to furnish a bond for $5,000.

POPULATION BY WARDS

Census Figures For Bellefonte for 1910 are Announced.

The census figures, giving the population of Bellefonte by wards, were announced at Washington this week. Comparison of these figures with the census of 1900 shows that in the last ten years the North Ward has lost 124, and the West Ward, 13, while the South Ward has a gain of 66, a net loss in the three wards of 71. The figures for the three wards in Bellefonte for 1910 and also 1900, follow:

Ward	1910	1900
North	1768	1892
South	1662	1596
West	715	728
Total	4145	4216

Lost An Eye.

Edward E. Meese, formerly of Coleville, but now a merchant at Pitcairn, met with an accident on Friday morning which cost him his right eye. He was prying off the lid of a large box, filled with goods, when the screw-driver he was using, slipped and struck him in the eye. He was taken to the hospital where it was found necessary to remove the member, which is certainly very discouraging. Mr. Meese was married to Miss Mary Rote, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rote, of Axe Mann, and it was only a short time ago when they brought a child to Bellefonte for interment. Mr. and Mrs. Meese are experiencing the truth of the old saying that "Trouble never comes single-handed."

For years Mr. Meese was one of Centre County's most progressive school teachers and his former co-workers, over the county, will be sorry to hear of his misfortune.

Child Scalded to Death.

Daniel J. Martin, the 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Martin, of Blanchard, met with a horrible death at that place on Tuesday morning. While Mrs. Martin was busy washing clothes, the child accidentally fell into a tub of scalding water. When rescued the body of the child was a mass of blisters. It lingered in terrible agony until yesterday, when death ended its suffering. Funeral services will be held at Blanchard tomorrow, Rev. W. H. Patterson officiating.

Fractured His Ankle.

While at work painting the interior of the roof of the grandstand, on Beaver Field, State College, David Fulton fell from a ladder and sustained a compound fracture of his right ankle. He was removed to the Bellefonte hospital.

Events Recalled By Quaint Old Papers

During the dark days of the Civil War it was not an uncommon thing for a soldier in either the Federal or Confederate army to carry in his inside pocket a small Bible, the parting gift of a loving and devoted mother or a grief-stricken sweetheart. Therefore there is nothing unusual about the fact that T. R. Covington, now of Stevensburg, Culpeper Co., Va., carried the Book of Truth with him while serving under the flag of the Confederacy. But one day Mr. Covington lost his Bible and now comes the strange and interesting story of its return to him.

At the time in which this story begins, about the middle of June, 1863, the Confederate army was stationed at Petersburg, Va., in defense of Richmond, the capitol of the Confederacy, and the Army of the Potomac, having been ordered to "Advance on Richmond," took their position in front of Petersburg. In the army were many Centre County boys, members of Company D, 45th Regiment. Among the Company D boys was Henry C. Holter, of Howard, and on the second day after the army's advance to Petersburg he was ordered on the skirmish line. During the day he picked up a small, red-edged pocket Bible and put it into his pocket, to discover on a later inspection that it was owned by a Confederate soldier, the name, company and regiment having been written on the fly-leaf. This Mr. Holter tore out and carried the little book until the close of the war and then brought it to his home near Howard. It is now about 47 years since he picked up the Bible on the Virginia battlefield, and during all that time and until a few weeks ago, Mr. Holter never dreamed that its former owner might be found and the Bible returned. The Bible had often been used by members of the family in the Sunday school and young people's services and by several of them for the Bible readings in the schools which they taught. All this time it bore a small spot of blood, shed by some unknown person on the field of conflict. On one occasion it came near being destroyed by fire when a school house burned. All that saved it was the daughter's forethought in taking it to her boarding place on Friday evening after school, as had been her custom.

One day it occurred to Mr. Holter that its owner might be reached, through the columns of "The [illegible]al Tribune," a paper published in the interests of the Grand Army of the Republic, at Washington, and in which the veterans of the war relate their experiences in the conflict for the preservation of the Union. In an article to "The Tribune" Mr. Holter related the story of the finding of a Bible at Petersburg, but no response was made.

A short time ago Mr. Covington, the Confederate veteran, in an article to "The Tribune" told of having lost a Bible at Petersburg on the 17th or 18th of June, 1864. Now Mr. Holter is a very close reader of the paper that "fights them over again," and reading Mr. Covington's letter, recalled that he was on the skirmish line "in front of Petersburg" on one of these days. He at once wrote Mr. Covington, telling him of his find 47 years ago and gave a discription of the treasured Book. Word came back that the description tallied as well to his lost Bible as his memory could recall, and that if he (Mr. Holter) did not treasure it too highly he would like to have it forwarded to him at Stevensburg for identification.

The Bible was sent to Mr. Covington and while it had the resemblance of the one he formerly possessed, there was nothing to positively identify it, the blood not being on the one he carried and the fly-leaf was torn out. Mr. Covington began leafing through the Bible and soon came across a few strands of red hair, and then recalling that his head was crowned with auburn locks at that time, thought the Bible must have once been his. It is now in Mr. Covington's possession and treasured very highly by him.

It is hardly probable that Mr. Holter would have taken any great pains to restore the Bible when he found it, for they were then foes engaged in a deadly conflict. But now the once-intense bitterness has passed away, as this extract from Mr. Covington's letter to Mr. Holter will show:

"Just think, 47 years ago! How many trials and rugged roads we've traveled over since then. I must say in behalf of the Union army that I have not met a single one since the war but who has been as nice and good to me as he could be. I thank you cordially for all you have said and done, and wish you would make a raid "On to Richmond" and come and see me.

"How vain are all things here below;
How false and yet how fair."

It is very evident that Mr. Covington was not without a Bible during these 47 years and has also learned the truth that the Good Book teaches, as his closing paragraph testifies:

"May peace, plenty and glorious entry into that blissful land be yours."

Your Comrade,
T. R. Covington.

TEACHER EXONERATED

Squire Musser Dismissed Whipping Case from Liberty Township.

On Saturday morning an interesting case from Liberty township was heard before Squire W. H. Musser, of Bellefonte. It brought to town quite a large number of witnesses from that section of the county. In fact, the two offices of Squire Musser were crowded with witnesses and others who were anxious to hear the evidence.

The charge was assault and battery, preferred by Irvin Walker against Leland Bolopue, a school teacher in Liberty township.

It seems that on the 22nd of February Harry Walker, 12 years of age, and two other scholars, began acting the dunce, when one of the desks in the school room was broken. The teacher informed the boys that they would have to pay for the repairing of the desk, and stated they should get the money from their parents and bring it to school the next morning. Two of the boys turned up the following morning, one of them being Harry Walker, but neither brought the money to help pay for the broken desk. The third young man has failed to show himself in the school since that time.

The two boys failing to comply with the teacher's request he started to whip them with a rod, which was a little thicker than the fore finger. Naturally the boys didn't stand still and take their medicine, but resisted his attack and there was a lively tussle. When the scuffle was over and the boys had gone home, young Walker made an examination of his body and found that his right hip was black and blue. This so enraged his father, Irvin Walker, that he had a warrant served on Mr. Bolopue, the outcome of which was the hearing on Saturday. Henry C. Quigley, Esq., represented the defendant, who had the backing of the school board. He claimed that the black marks on the boy were not the result of the whipping but that in the struggle that occurred the boy was thrown against the end of a desk, thereby causing the discoloring of the flesh. Clement Dale, Esq., represented the plaintiff, who held that the boy was unjustly treated and that the teacher overstepped his authority.

After hearing all the evidence Squire Musser discharged the defendant and placed the costs on the county.

A Little Excitement.

On Friday morning Alf. Baum, of Bellefonte, was driving a fine brown steed around the streets which was being admired by everybody. About noon he was up on Allegheny Street when he saw Aaron Katz, the popular Bellefonte merchant, whom he invited to take a little drive. Everything went along smoothly until on High Street, near Dr. David Dale's office, when the animal plunged to the side of the street, striking a tree at the edge of the pavement. Both occupants were thrown out and the animal freed itself from the conveyance. Down the street it came at breakneck speed to the Palace Livery. Mr. Baum was slightly stunned and was carried into the office of Dr. Dale. He soon revived and started to look after the horse. Mr. Katz came out of the racket without a scar, but it will be a cold day in July when he will ride behind a high strung steed again. He says walking is good enough for him. The conveyance was but slightly damaged.

Milk Condensary.

The actual manufacture of condensed and evaporated milk at the big plant of the Continental Condensed Milk Company, at Mill Hall, was begun Monday morning, and a caravan of farmers' wagons loaded with milk arrived at the condensary a considerable time before the whistle announced that Mill Hall's newest and most promising industry was prepared to begin actual operations.

Messrs. Page, Ingraham and Spence, who have had entire charge of the construction and equipment of the big concern, are extremely gratified with the smoothness with which all the machinery works after having been subjected to the most exacting tests.

KIRK, IN TART LETTER, RESIGNS FROM COUNCIL

West Ward Member Says He Can't Agree With Colleagues.

IS PROMPTLY ACCEPTED

Action Followed Frequent Clashing Over Borough Matters—Council Will Elect His Successor to Serve Until End of Year.

Dr. M. A. Kirk, often termed the "fire-brand" of Council, on Monday night, last, formally resigned from that body. In his letter of resignation Dr. Kirk bluntly declared that his views differed so radically from other members of Council that he believed he could be of no service to the borough. For nine years Dr. Kirk has represented the West Ward. His term of service has been marked by frequent and spirited clashing with his colleagues.

"It is up to Council to select a successor for the unexpired term of Dr. Kirk. Under the old law the latter's term would have expired on the first Monday of March. The new law extended his term to the first Monday of January, 1912. Several persons are mentioned as under consideration for the temporary berth.

Dr. Kirk's letter of resignation, which was read by William T. Kelly, secretary to Council, was as follows:

"To J. C. Harper and members of the Bellefonte Borough Council.

It has become so very apparent that the ideas of the majority of the members of the Borough Council and those of myself, upon borough economies, are so radical at varience that I can be of no further benefit to the borough, and therefore, in justice to myself and the borough, I hereby resign as a member of the Bellefonte Council.

"Yours Respectfully,
"M. A. Kirk."

Mr. Musser moved that the resignation be received which was seconded by Mr. Keller, who stated that Dr. Kirk had made a good councilman but he thought his request should be granted. It was unanimously accepted.

Under verbal communications H. B. Pontius, the tree agent, stated that it would cost $25 to place a hedge fence between the residence of Wilbur T. Twitmire and the water works, on Water street. Mr. Twitmire desires something of the kind placed there in order to give his property more privacy. Mr. Pontius suggested that a California hedge be secured, saying that is the best for the place.

The residents of North Allegheny street petitioned Council to lay some kind of a pavement from the residence of General A. Beaver to the borough line. They claim that in inclement weather it is very difficult to get through the mud and durt. Nothing definite was done in the matter.

The water committee, through chairman Musser, recommended to Council that the water for the swimming pool to be built by Mrs. W. H. Wilson, at the Y. M. C. A., should be donated. The report met with the sanction of Council and was unanimously passed. H. C. Quigley, Esq., presented an ordinance, prepared by Solicitor J. Thomas Mitchell, in which it was stated that the pool should be filled at the convenience of the borough officials; that is, if the water is needed elsewhere the filling of the pool should be an after-consideration. The pool will hold 75,000 or 80,000 gallons and will be filled twice a week.

W. A. Ishler, collector of the water tax, made an excellent report for the year. He collected the duplicate until within $500. There will be some necessary exonerations, such as at the Hastings residence which has been closed during the winter, and overcharges at the jail and the American Lime & Stone Co. This will reduce the amount between $200 and $300. Mr. Ishler was re-elected to the position over Miss Mary Kelley, who was a new applicant.

Supt. Meyer, through Mr. Musser, reported that some of the meters in Bellefonte, were being tampered with. He suggested that seals be bought and placed on them. Mr. Grimm stated there were coverings sent with each meter, which would act as a seal or prevent people from tampering with them. This method will be tried before incurring any additional expense. There is an ordinance prohibiting tampering with water meters, and imposing a fine of not less than $5.00 and not more than $25.00 for each offense. It was suggested that the ordinance be rigidly enforced.

Lawyer Quigley reported that James Noonan was anxious to know what Council was doing toward settling the claim which he holds against the borough for the injury to his wife, who stepped into a hole dug by employes of the Bellefonte Electric Company. The Street Committee reported progress in the matter.

Opportunities Everywhere.

Champ Clarks says the South is the place for a young man. "Why, say," he declares. "I know a young man who made $15,000 in one year off three acres of lettuce. Sounds fishy, doesn't t? True, though, for I took pains to find out. It's a great country, boys, and if you want a good tip, follow my advice—that is, go early to the Southland and grow up with its progress."

This advice from Mr. Clark is of no greater value than it would be from anybody else, but it brings to mind something that was said by one of the greatest agriculturists of the West a short time ago. He is not altogether in favor of this constant cry of "Get back to the soil," because, he says, the soil is not always in a receptive mood. It will not give returns to any man unless it has the right treatment. This means that a man needs to know something about farming before he goes "back" if he expects to make a success of it. It is all right enough to say that you can "tickle the soil with a hoe and it will laugh with the harvest," but it has to be tickled in the right way with the right sort of a hoe. Profitable farming nowadays consists in a great deal more than making a hole in the plowed ground with your heel, dropping in three or four kernels of corn and getting a bushel to the hill at harvest time. It is probably true that almost any kind of a farmer can get something out of the ground, but there is a vast difference between getting "something" and making big profits.

The South, the North and the West are all good fields for men who know how to farm it, or are willing to learn. Opportunities lie wherever you are. You don't need to follow Greeley's advice and go West, or Champ Clark's and go south. If you haven't the snap you might just as well stay at home and be poor, for you'll be poor anywhere—Williamsport Gazette & Buletin.

Warns Girl Employes.

"Girls who enter office," says Sarah Watters, a Boston girl, who recovered $20,000 damages for breach of promise from her former employer, "must be constantly on their guard. They face a battle which will concern their honor, their finer instincts and their future life. Everything is at stake for them. They are going to face flattery and deceit of masculine admirers whose motives are flippant, casual and too often devoid of sincerity. Mothers and fathers underestimate the danger which this sort of girl going into the business world must face. Many times a girl is trapped because she has not been warned sufficiently beforehand. Sometimes I have wondered at the chivalry of men working beside a man that knows her designs, as girl she does not take him by the nape of the neck and throw him out of the window. It is natural that the average working girl should tire of the routine of her work and should long for a little bit of fun. It is natural that when an employer asks her to dinner she should yield to the longing for a little diversion and accept. It is indeed a battle in a ruthless business world against dishonest men."

Sentence Suspended.

J. A. Fegley, the newsdealer, who was found guilty of circulating the "Woodpecker" containing an article that libeled Congressman B. K. Focht, was called before Judge Shull in court, at Lewisburg, Friday morning. After referring to the charge on which the defendant had been convict d, Judge Shull announced that he would suspend sentence indefinitely, Fegley to pay the costs of prosecution. It is probable that this ends the "Woodpecker" libel suit, although it is stated that efforts are yet being made to get at the author of the libelous articles.

Are You My Wife?

ANSWER EVERY CALL

Bellefonte People Have Found That This is True.

A cold, a strain, a sudden wrench,
A little cause may hurt the kidneys.
Spells of backache often follow,
Or some irregularity of the urine.
A certain remedy for such attacks,
A medicine that answers every call,
Is Doan's Kidney Pills, a true specific.
Many Bellefonte people rely on it.
Here is Bellefonte proof.

Mrs. H. I. Taylor, 72 S. Water St., Bellefonte, Pa., says: "We think just as highly of Doan's Kidney Pills today as we did two years ago, when we publicly recommended them. They were procured from Green's Pharmacy Co. and brought relief from backache and kidney trouble. On several occasions since then we have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and they have always been of the greatest benefit. We think so highly of Doan's Kidney Pills that we recommend them to other kidney sufferers at every opportunity."

The Poultry Yard.

This is the month the turkeys begin laying.

There is no better time than now to set geese eggs. Set them under a hen, allowing her five eggs, which are about all she can conveniently cover.

Some folks are forever planning ahead and figuring how to make chickens pay, and while they are pottering along with their plans and figures the hens and their broods are neglected.

No fowl is so hard to doctor as a turkey. A secret of success with turkeys lies in avoiding inbreeding. A little turk debilitated at the start by inbreeding has a poor chance for its life.

The baby chick trade has grown wonderfully. Twenty years ago poultrymen never dreamed of starting a business in that line, while now hundreds of thousands of these innocents are annually sent out.

As the nights are still cold it is advisable to give the hens but eleven eggs at the time of setting them. This affords the hen a better chance to cover and warm the eggs properly, bringing forth better results.

It's all right to have the brood coops wind-tight but not air-tight. It does not take much of a carpenter to put a pane of glass in a brood coop, and the chicks do better if they can have light when they must be shut up during cold, stormy weather.

When a spell of bad weather comes, look out for lice. They multiply fast when hens and chicks have to be confined to their coops much of the time. These pests will soon reduce the vitality of the liveliest chick ever hatched, so that it will be in good condition to take gapes or some other ailment.—Farm Journal.

Roofing Guarantees.

When a maker guarantees his roofing, it merely means that he puts his claims for it in writing, and if there is any dispute afterwards, there are thousands of ways in which the maker can evade responsibility if he chooses.

The makers of Congo Roofing, however, have devised an interesting plan which gives the buyer absolute protection. With each roll of roofing is furnished a Surety Bond issued by the National Surety Company of New York, guaranteeing the faithful performance of the guarantee by the manufacturers. This gives to any possible complainant a Court of Appeals to which he can go, over the head of the manufacturer. In fact, this guaratee bond so pledges that if the manufacturers of Congo Roofing should go bankrupt or close out their business, the Surety Company would still continue to guarantee the reliability and satisfaction of Congo Roofing. The guarantee on the two or three ply is for 10 years.

A copy of the Guarantee can be obtained by addressing the Potter-Hoy Hardware Co. Bellefonte, Pa.

Leading State for Rye.

Pennsylvania is the champion rye-growing State in the Union, according to announcement made at the United States Agricultural Department several days ago. Pennsylvania in 1910 produced 19.6 percent of the rye crop of the county, Michigan being second, with 16.2 percent. Penrsylvania was second in producing hay, its percentage being 7.3. New York scored first, its percentage being 10.4. Iowa scored first honors in oats, wresting this honor from Illinois by a narrow margin. Iowa had a percentage of 16.1, as compared with 15.1 percent for Illinois. Illinois won out over Iowa in corn. New York won first honors in potatoes and buckwheat. Kansas was first in winter and also spring wheat, but fell behind Minnesota in all-wheat. California won out over Minnesota in barley. Until this year Iowa held first honors in hay.

When to Stop Advertising.

An English journal requested a number of the largest advertisers to give their opinions concerning the best time to stop advertising, and the following replies were received:

When the population ceases to multiply and the generation that crowded on after you and never heard of you stops coming on.

When you have convinced everybody whose life will touch yours that you have better goods and lower prices than they can get anywhere else.

When you stop making fortunes solely through the direct use of this mighty agent.

When younger and fresher houses in your line cease starting up.

When you would rather have your own way and fail than take advice and win.—Nashville American.

SUP'T. CONNER'S REPORT

Valuable Information as to Christian Work in this District.

At the session of the Pennsylvania Methodist conference, held in Bloomsburg last week, Rev. B. C. Conner, D. D., of Altoona, superintendent of the Altoona district, of which Centre County is a part, read a lengthly and encouraging report of the work of the last year. In relation to the work done in Centre County and vicinity the report was as follows:

First of all, we praise God, notwithstanding the unprecedented mortality in our conference this year, we have not on the Altoona district lost one of our ministers by death. About 175 of our laymen, during the year, have left us for the better land. Twelve of the charges on the district have made a total increase in pastors' salaries of $1,000. Three others have reduced by $350. Net advance $650. On several of the charges the salaries could easily be increased. If some of our stewards had a little more of God's grace in their hearts, this would be done. Our greatest problem, however, is to have the estimated salary paid regularly and promptly each month. We hope the day is not far distant when all congregations will adopt the duplex envelope and that every member canvass, as some of the churches have done so, that all money needed for pastors' support and for benevolence may come into the treasury regularly every month.

The Bellefonte church spent $90 for improvements. A new flue, costing $50, has been added to the Centre church on the Centre and Sandy Ridge charge. Half Moon charge, Fillmore church repapered. Stormstown church has new concrete steps and sheds for horses. Ross church repapered and repainted, entire cost $410, paid. Howard church repapered and painted at cash outlay, $150. Beech Creek church papers, installs gasoline lights, steel ceiling, painted and otherwise made improvements. Cost $852. Curry Run church, on this charge, builds a new flue, papers, puts in new yellow pine ceiling and carpet, enlarges platform, paints and varnishes wood work, all at a cost of $300; practically all paid. Milesburg church exterior painted, $80; parsonage adds bathroom and other improvements, cost $130. Unionville church puts in memorial art glass windows and paints interior of building at cost of $250; all bills paid. Moshannon church, Snow Shoe charge, painted, $90. Clarence church, same charge, painted, $56; new lights, $12 all. Snow Shoe paid $250 of a debt. All the churches in the district are insured except Julian, on the Port Matilda charge.

The only new church erected during the year is the one at State College and this has not been completed for lack of funds. Ground was broken June 20, 1910. The corner stone laid Sunday, September 18, 1910. The building is under roof and the congregation is using the basement which was occupied for the first time, Sunday, January 22, 1911. The erection of this church was a providential necessity. With approximately 1,300 students in the college and 300 of whom are from Methodist homes and many other affiliated with churches kindred in spirit to heavy debt would be a colossal blunder, if not a crime. The members locally are doing well. To complete the building this summer and pay for it, which by all means we ought to do, we shall need and must secure ontside of State College, $14,000. This is a large sum, I know, but it can and must be raised. And brothers, it is not the Golden Rule to delegate this task wholly to the pastor of that church and the superintendent of the Altoona district. Every one of us ought to give as we are able and secure contributions from others. With deepest conviction as to the extreme importance of this undertaking and the necessity for prompt and heroic effort upon the part of us all, for myself and for those who are carrying this load at State College, I solicit your most hearty, prompt and practical co-operation.

Charges reporting twenty or more converts are as follows: East Altoona, 36; Eighth avenue, 65; First church, 31; Simpson, 70; Bakerton, 137; Bellefonte, 20; Blandburg, 44; Centre and Sandy Ridge, 51; Cherry Tree, 22; Eleventh Street Clearfield, 50; West Side, 75; Clearfield Circuit; 56; Flemington, 41, Glen Campbell, 62; Half Moon, 35; Hastings; 21; Howard, 30; Lumber City, 38; Milesburg and Unionville, 68; Munson, 33; Philipsburg, 60; Pleasant Gap, 91; Port Matilda, 24; Salona and Lamar, 28; Shawville, 37; Snow Shoe, 24; Wallaceton, 31; total number of conversions 1,585; total number of probationers 1,431. We report full members this year 15,595; last year 15,403; gain, 192.

In the soft coal regions during the large part of the year many of our people have had work only two or three days in the week and some times no work at all. Many of our railroad men as a consequence have been on short time. It has been difficult, in some places impossible, to hold our benevolence to the figures of last year. We report this year for education, $920; Sunday schools, $340; Freedmen, $751; Bible cause, $125; total for these causes, $2,136. Last year for the same objects we gave $2,133; increase, $3. We report for foreign missions this year, regular, $7,787; last year, $7,686; gain $101. For foreign missions, special, $548; last year, $436; gain, $112. For home missions and church extension, regular, $7,263; last year, $7,061; gain $202. For home missions and church extensions, special $2,159; last year, $1,025; gain $1,134. Total for foreign and home missions, regular, $15,050; last year, $14,747; gain, $303. Total for foreign and home missions, special, $2,707; last year, $1,461; increase, $1,246. Grand total for foreign and home missions and church extensions, regular and special $17,757; last year, $16,208; gain, $1,549.

Died at Seattle.

A number of years ago J. S. Gillam, of Tyrone, was a shoe merchant in Bellefonte, occupying the room in Criders's Exchange in which William McClure now holds forth. Last week Mr. Gillam, who is located at Tyrone, received a telegram from Seattle, Washington, conveying the tidings that his youngest son, Charles Marshall Gillam, had died at that place and asking disposition for the remains. But a few days ago a letter had been received from him in which he spoke of his excellent health and his friends are in the dark as to to the cause of his death. Deceased was a contracting electrician and recently had been working on a large job in Seattle. From this it is generally supposed that he met with a violent death. For awhile he was in business for himself in Philipsburg but in 1906, her left for the west and followed his trade in several of the western states. In February 1910 he was married to Miss Frankie Bellamy, of Phoenix, Arizona.

Two Monster Beeves.

The Lock Haven Democrat says: Forney Winner, proprietor of the Central meat market, Friday purchased two of the heaviest beef cattle ever brought to this city. Both animals came from near Madisonburg, Centre County, one being raised by John F. Royer, and the other by Benjamin Limbert. There was a keen rivalry between these two stockmen as to which animal would weigh the most, and the farmers thereabouts became so greatly interested in the outcome of the novel contest that a number of wagers were made. Arthur Riegel, the Salona butcher, purchased the cattle on Tuesday, but on account of their ponderousness two days were required to drive them from Madisonburg to Salona, and another day was consumed in getting them to this city. On being weighed here each animal was found to weigh the same, 2,155 pounds, and hence all bets were declared off.

Uncle Sam Wants Men.

The United States civil service commission announced that an examination will be held in Altoona on April 12, for cadet officer in the lighthouse service. As a result of this examination it is expected to fill several vacancies at entrance salaries of from $600 to $720 per annum, with quarters and subsistence. An insufficient number of eligibles were secured as the result of an examination for this position held on January 4, and qualified persons are urged to enter this one.

On April 22 an examination will be held to secure eligibles from which to make certification to fill a vacancy in the position of draftsman cartographer in the Philippine service at $1,800 per annum, and vacancies requiring similar qualifications as they may occur. Each applicant is required to submit a photograph of himself, and the medical certificate must not be executed by the family physician of the applicant.

Found in Arkansas.

After roaming over the south for two years under the name of W. D. Lafferty, a wealthy, Altoona, Pa., man, whose right name is W. D. Laughman, was found by his family at Springdale, Ark., where he was suffering from paralysis. Laughman at first went to Hot Springs, Ark., and then to Springdale, where he purchased a farm and went into the dairy business. A few days ago he became ill, and it was then that he told of his right name and the whereabouts of his family. He stated no reason for his peculiar action, but communication with his family revealed that his mind had been affected. He has a wife and three children in Altoona. Laughman, according to Dun's, is worth $100,000.

Licenses Knocked Out.

Judge W. E. Porter handed down an opinion on Thursday refusing every brewery, wholesale and retail liquor license in Lawrence county. Liquor men threaten to carry the matter to a higher tribunal, but should their efforts fail the county will be "dry" for the first time in almost two-score years.

While no definite action has been taken, it is the belief that a bitter fight will be made in the Superior Court by the 37 applicants now engaged in the liquor business. If the lower court is sustained by the Superior Court the county will be "dry" for the fir t time since 1873 and 1874, when the local option law was in effect. The "wets" are preparing for battle, while 26 attorneys have volunteered their services in upholding the decision of Judge Porter.

The action of the judge is upheld by many, however, who point to the fact that he was elected on what was conceded, a prohibition platform. It is argued that he had a right to carry out his pledges to the letter and that his refusal to grant a license was justifiable, as evidence had been obtained against the holder of every license in the county except two.

In Bedford county the annual liquor license court was held on Thursday when President Judge Woods, with Associate Judges Bruce and Huff, voted to refuse every application in the county with the exception of the Bedford Springs hotel, the famous summer resort, which was granted on the votes of Huff and Brice. However, at the regular Thursday session of court, Judge Huff reversed himself, voting to refuse the Bedford Springs license also.

Had the Bedford Springs people lifted their license immediately they would have it, in spite of the action of the court, but they did not, so they are out in the cold also. It is the opinion among some attorneys here that the action of Judge Huff will not stand the test of the Supreme court, and an appeal will likely be taken. As Judge Huff filed an opinion in voting to grant license to this hotel, the unique situation will arise, in case of an appeal, of a judge's own arguments being used to secure a reversal of his decision.

While the sentiment in Bedford county is largely in favor of prohibition, there is some feeling over the refusal of the Bedford Springs application, as the hotel was a prominent institution and attracted many people each summer. It is possible that if the license cannot be obtained the hotel will not be opened this year.

There were 23 applications to sell liquor in Bedford county.

Rules to Revoke Hotel Licenses.

The Tyrone Herald says that H. A. Davis, Esq., attorney for the Anti Saloon league, presented petitions to revoke the licenses of seven Blair county hotels, on the grounds of violations of the law having been there committed.

These seven houses were subject to the charges: Samuel Dunmire, Lafayette hotel, Altoona; Guy DeMattis, Hotel Rome, Altoona; Charles M. Waple, Ward hotel, Tyrone; J. L. Troutwine, Pennsylvania hotel, Tyrone; Patrick J. Kelley, City hotel, Tyrone; S. M. Bookman, Portage hotel, Duncansville; Samuel Kough, Hotel Admiral, Juniata.

DeMattis is charged with selling liquors to known intemperate men and with permitting gambling games to be conducted on his premises.

Dunmire is charged with selling liquor to known intemperate men, and to women of bad reputation.

The allegations against Bookman are that he has been conducting a rough and disorderly house.

The Tyrone landlords are charged with violating the request made by Judge Baldrige last March that no liquor be sold in that town by the bottle.

Attorney Davis filed similar petitions against other landlords Thursday morning. Testimony will be heard in open court in the above seven cases today.

His Age in Verse.

Zara Stowell Welch, of Howard, who is almost 79 years of age, many years ago wrote a few verses telling the story of his life. More recently he added a verse bringing the story down to present time. Here it is, as Mr. Welch tells it:

I was born on April 10th, '32.
From York State my parents, to see what they could do,
In Tioga County they did stop,
And in Westfield run a blacksmith shop.
There my boyhood days were spent—
To Mr. Strang's school I went.

In eighteen and fifty-four
Left Westfield's picturesque shore,
In Clinton County I did stay,
But in two years went away.

In eighteen and fifty-six,
With Centre Countians I did mix,
On Marsh Creek I made my home,
Thinking now no more I'd roam.

In eighteen and fifty-eight
My parents got western bait
In the Keystone they would not stay,
So to the West they went away.

But in old Centre I remained,
Just to see what I could gain,
Here I lived a single life
'Till in fifty-eight I got a wife.

In a smith shop I was found,
As year after year rolled around,
When a family, numbering nine,
All grew up, and, say, they're looking fine.

Wireless Telegraphy.

The State Engineering Experiment Station, attached to The Pennsylvania State College, has entered upon an investigation, in co-operation with electricians of the Pennsylvania Railroad, to perfect a system of wireless telegraphy for use between railroad stations. In the case of storms, or other natural disturbances which interrupt the ordinary telephone and telegraph service, the railroad companies are largely helpless on account of their inability to communicate from station to station or signal towers. The simple, efficient, and easily operative wireless system would avoid this difficulty, and save much time and expense to both travelers and the railroad companies.

The Experiment Station now has a fine wireless outfit for carrying out this work. By means of other wireless sets erected at various railroad stations, the opportunity for carrying out a practical line of research is excellent.

Facts About Mexico.

Just at this time a good deal is being said about the United States going to war with Mexico. While the thoughts of our people are being directed to this subject it would be well, as a matter of information, to see what are some of the facts about Mexico and, to this end, we have clipped the following which will give the reader some idea of the country.

Area, 767,000 square miles.
Population, 19,000,000.
Silver production, $59,000,000 annually.
Capitalization of banks, $100,000,000.
Miles of railroad, 15,000.
Value of exports, $231,000,000.
Value of imports, $157,000,000 annually.
Size of army, 30,000 officers and men.

Wet Your Hands.

The following advice is given to fishermen who will go forth with the opening of trout season to catch a trout too small to keep and under the law limit, be sure to wet your hands before you touch it to take it from the hook and put it back in the water. The body of a trout is covered with a slime that sticks to the human hands unless the hands have been wet and when a trout has been thrown back into the water without this slime remaining on its body, in nine cases out of ten the fish will die. This information will prove valuable to the local county fishermen in saving the small fish of our streams.

Death at State College.

The State College Times says that Mrr. Caroline Reed Harkness died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. A. Buckhout, with whom she has been living for the past 33 years, Thursday morning, of infirmities due to advanced age. She was born at Lansing, N. Y., in February, 1852 and was therefore 89 years old. While in middle life she spent several years in Illinois and Missouri. During the Civil war she resided near Austin, Tex.

Must Wear Bryan Trade-Mark.

Harmony, attended with volcanic eruptions, is the watchword in the Democratic party in Pennsylvania these days. Not since Colonel James M. Guffey had William F. Harrity thrown bodily out of the Democratic National Committee, in 1896, has the Democratic party in this State witnessed such a cain-raising performance as that pulled off at Harrisburg a few days ago. The Reorganization Committee, appointed to recorganize and harmonize the party, met, as per schedule, and proceeded to swing the axe. There were two mighty swings and the heads of National Committeeman Guffey and State Chairman Dewalt dropped into the box. Congressman A. Mitchell Palmer and ex-Mayor George W. Guthrie were chosen National Committeeman and State Chairman, respectively. The axe was swung after several hours of bitter deabate. At times the reorganizers and harmonizers were so close to peace and good will that the lie was passed and physical encounters narrowly averted.

Having been unceremoniously ejected from official place in the party organization Colonel Guffey and Chairman Dewalt greeted the verdict of the reorganizers with loud laughs of derision. To be ousted from control was bad enough, said they, but to be thrown out of their own party by a few men who prided themselves on voting against the Democrats ticket on numerous occasions was too much. They refused to get out and defied their enemies to do their worst.

At the present time the Pennsylvania Democracy has the unique distinction of possessing two members of the National Committee and two State Chairmen, although from past experience it would appear that there has not been work enough to claim the service of even one of each. The threat has been made that the whole matter will be taken into court for a decision as to which pair are real Democrats. For the present it is a question which is the better pair to draw to.

In political circles the suspicion is held that the ousting of Guffey and Dewalt and the substitution of Palmer and Guthrie means much more than appears on the surface. It is suspected, and perhaps with good cause, that the move was inspired by certain interests at Washington who have their eye on the Pennsylvania delegation to the next Democratic national convention. Having got their eye on the delegation it is suspected that these interests now plan getting their hand on it and delivering the delegates for Champ Clark or Governor Wilson for the nomination for President. The suspicion may be groundless, but by more than a few it is accepted as one warranted by circumstantial evidence.

Mr. Guffey is believed to favor the nomination of Governor Harmon, of Ohio, in preference to Clark, or Wilson, and especially Bryan. Harmon is regarded as the choice of the anti-Bryan wing of the party. Bryan has announced that he is not seeking another nomination, but he has made it quite clear that he expects to have a hand in slating the candidate. Moreover, Bryan has made it, equally clear that the nominee must not be Harmon. Bryan's tirade against Guffey at the Denver convention, preceding the catapulting of Guffey from the National Committee, to make room for the late James Kerr, is still fresh in the public mind. The death of Mr. Kerr made possible the return of Guffey to the National Committee and from that day to this the blighting hand of Bryan has been on the Guffey trail. It has made no difference to Bryan that Guffey contributed large sums to the Democratic campaign fund during several of the Bryan dashes for the Presidency. Even Guffey's generosity in presenting stained glass windows for Bryan's new home at Lincoln some years since fails to touch a sympathetic chord in the breast of the apostle of free silver. Bryan's enmity having been incurred, Guffey was scheduled for the block. In the hour of his financial distress, and when he was least able to defend himself, the axe was swung by one-time friends and beneficiaries and Mr. Guffey's official head was secured.

It may be that Guffey and Dewalt will yet triumph over their present-day enemies and that Palmer and Guthrie will be left to occupy the role of generals without an army. Whether this comes to pass or not, there is little likelihood of Democratic harmony in Pennsylvania for some time to come. For this much Pennsylvania Republicans will shed no tears.

The one thing of real significance, made quite clear by the determination to unhorse Guffey in Pennsylvania, is that no Democrat may hope to occupy the White House unless he shall wear the Bryan trade-mark.

MRS. SUSAN MILLER DEAD

Well Known Resident of Bellefonte Passes Away on Thursday.

Death, on Thursday of last week, closed the beautiful and useful life of Mrs. Susan Miller, widow of the late Charles B. Miller, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Michael Lamb, on North Allegheny Street, Bellefonte. Funeral services were held on Sunday afternoon, at 3.30 o'clock, with Rev. John Hewitt officiating. Interment was made in the Union cemetery.

Deceased was born in Dauphin County and removed to Bellefonte in 1862. For over thirty years she was a highly respected resident of this place. Surrounded by friends, and making her home with a devoted daughter, her last years were made as comfortable as possible. Her husband died about sixteen years ago.

Surviving are a number of sons and daughters and numerous grand-children and great-grand-children. The sons and daughters are Mrs. Anna Garis, of Williamsport; Mrs. Laura Doak, Mrs. Susan Phillippi, Reading; Mrs. Rachael Wilson, of State College; C. J. Miller, of Pittsburg, and Mrs. Michael Lamb, of Bellefonte.

Dempster L. Meek Dead.

Dempster L. Meek, one of Centre County's best known farmers, and a younger brother of Hon. P. Gray Meek, of Bellefonte, died Thursday afternoon of last week at 4.15 o'clock, at his home at Waddle. He had been ill for about two weeks with a complication of diseases.

The deceased was the son of Mary and Gray Meek, and was born 67 years ago on the homestead farm, in Patton township. When he grew to manhood he learned the trade of a painter, and for three years worked as a cabinet maker at Brachbill's furniture store, in Bellefonte. Later he purchased the farm of the late Benner Waddle, at Waddle, and engaged in farming, in which he was very successful. He was recognized as a man thoroughly acquainted with every detail of his chosen vocation. Owing to his advanced years Mr. Meek had sale of stock and farming implements about a week or more prior to his death. His intention was to live a retired life, but Providence ruled otherwise. He was a member of the Methodist church, always living a life in harmony with his christian profession. He was a quiet, genial, kindly gentleman, whose home for many years was noted as one of the most pleasing and hospitable in Half Moon Valley. His sudden demise has caused deep and profound sorrow among his many friends.

He was married to Miss Margery E. Waddle, daughter of the late Philip Benner Waddle, about fifty years ago. She survives, as do also the following children: Herbert D., Philip B., and John B., of State College; Dr. Reuben H., of Avis; Mrs. Frank Musser, and Mrs. Earl Way, of Altoona. He is also mourned by the following brothers and sisters: P. Gray Meek, of Bellefonte; L. Olin Meek, of Philadelphia; Mrs. Ephriam Gray, of State College; Misses Theressa and Sarah, on the old homestead. The funeral was held on Monday morning, at 11 o'clock, the services being conducted by Rev. George M. Glenn, of Sunbury. The sons of the deceased were the pall bearers. Interment was made in Gray's cemetery.

Marshall Cox Dead.

Marshall Cox, a Civil War veteran, died at his home, two miles east of Milesburg, on Thursday morning about 10 o'clock. The cause of his death was the result of injuries received during the war. He also had been blind for a number of years, resulting more or less, from these injuries. The deceased was 69 years of age and belonged to the Methodist church. Being a man of strict integrity he had hosts of warm friends. He is survived by the following children: Clyde, of McKeesport; Grove, of Tyrone; Mrs. Nettie King, of Milesburg, and Mrs. Edith White, at home. He is also survived by the following brothers and sisters: William, of Bellefonte; Harry, of Tyrone; Mrs. Corney, of Littlestown; Mrs. Neff, of Pittsburg; Mrs. Thomas Eckenroth, of Unionville, and Mrs. S. H. Hoy, of Benner township. The funeral took place on Sunday, at 2 P. M. with interment at Curtin.

Death of Young Man.

Ross Langham, a young man of about 18 years, died on Saturday morning, last, at the home of John Dreibelbis, near State College. He had been ill but a short time, death being due to pneumonia. Deceased was an orphan and for a number of years lived at the Williamsburg Orphans' Home. Surviving are two brothers and one sister, who live at Duncansville, to which place the body was taken on Monday for interment. Services were held on Sunday afternoon at the Dreibelbis home, conducted by Rev. S. C. Stover.

Death of Mrs. P. H. Gross.

Mrs. Lillian Gross, wife of P. H. Gross, who along with her husband and their little daughter had just recovered from an attack of diphtheria died Wednesday night of last week shortly after 11 o'clock at her home at Philipsburg. She was a member of the Lutheran church. Besides her mother, and her husband and little daughter, Pauline, she leaves three sisters, viz: Mrs. G. W. Bratton, Philipsburg; Mrs. E. H. Porch, Philadelhhia, and Miss Arminta, Johnstown.

DAVID REED DEAD

Respected Resident of Pine Grove Mills Called to His Reward.

After a long and useful life, David Reed a well known and highly respected citizen of Pine Grove Mills, died on Thursday of last week at his late home at that place. Deceased was aged 75 years and 3 months and was the father of the Reed boys, who are among the most progressive citizens of Pine Grove. Funeral services were held on Monday morning, conducted by Rev. H. K. Harnish and Rev. J. S. Shultz. Interment was made in the new cemetery at Pine Grove Mills.

David Reed was a man possessing many splendid qualities. He was an active member of the Presbyterian church. Rugged honesty, strict integrity and square dealing were his guide in his business affairs, the result being that his word was as good as his bond and his views on all subjects commanded the highest respect. His loss to the community in which he lived is deeply mourned

Mr. Reed was born at Linden Hall, January 17, 1836. When he was about 8 years of age his father moved onto a farm, near the foot of the mountain. There David Reed remained until about ten years ago, when he removed to Pine Grove Mills. Mr. Reed was twice married. His first wife was Susan Johnstonbaugh, who died in 1887. In 1889 he married Maria Hess, who survives, as do several sons and two sisters and one brother. The sons are W. E. Reed, J. E. Reed, James L., and D. G., all of Pine Grove Mills. One son, Curtin, and one daughter, Belle, died in youth. The surviving sisters and brother are Sarah and Maggie, of Pine Grove Mills, and J. C. Reed, of Boalsburg.

Two Deaths at Snow Shoe.

Henry Kissling, son of W. G. Kissling, died at his home in Snow Snoe on Friday morning. His age was 17 years, 6 months and 15 days. He was a young man whose kind words and noble deeds endeared him to all the people of that community. He is survived by his parents and the following sisters: Clara, Beatrice and Fay. The pall bearers were six of his school mates, as follows: Robert Budinger, Leo. Kelley, Clarence Thompson, Arthur Barraclaugh, Oscar Shank and Ary Shope. Interment was made in Askey's cemetery.

Mrs. Henrietta E. Thompson, one of the oldest chartered members of the Methodist church, of Snow Shoe, died at her home at that place Wednesday, March 15, from causes incident to old age. Had she lived until the 1st of April she would have been 76 years of age. Most of her life was spent in that community, where she had hosts of friends. Interment was made in Askey's cemetery.

An Aged Woman Dead.

Mrs. Mary Sebring, the aged mother of John T. Sebring, of Bellefonte, died at 8.30 o'clock Friday morning at her home in Jersey Shore. She celebrated her 93rd birthday on Feb 10th, a little over a month ago. She was able to get around until about a year ago when she fell and fractured her leg. Since then she had been bedfast. She was a good woman, loved and respected by all who know her. For years she had been a member of the Presbyterian church, living a life consistent with its teachings. She was a woman with a wonderful constitution and it is safe to say she would have rounded out the century had it not been for the accident. She is survived by the following children: Mrs. H. B. Humes, Mrs. M. L. Staver, Mrs. J. F. Carothers, of Jersey Shore; John T. Sebring, of Bellefonte; Robert A., Richard N., of Philadelphia, and Edson, of Jersey Shore. The funeral took place Monday.

Death at Zion.

Mrs. George Kauffman, of Zion, died Tuesday evening, about 9 o'clock. She had been ill for about ten days with pneumonia. She was a member of the Lutheran church and a most excellent lady. Her husband died last June. The deceased was 73 years of age and is survived by the following children: Miss Ada, at home; Mrs. Catherine Harshberger, of Hublersburg; Clayton, of Altoona, and H. A. Kauffman, of Zion. The funeral will take place Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

Frozen to Death.

Marshall, the 9-year-old son of J. Frank Vanbuskirk, was frozen to death near Lewistown. The boy had accompanied his father in moving household goods from Lewistown Junction to Alfarata when a spring broke on the wagon. The boy was left with the wagon while the father proceeded to Alfarata with a borrowed wagon. On returning he found the boy unconscious from cold. The boy died shortly after reaching Alfarata.

Dinner Celebration.

County Commissioners Woodring and Zimmerman, County Treasurer Fink Recorder William H. Brown, Sheriff Hurley, Commissioners Clerk E. J. Williams and several other county officials, with Postmaster T. H. Harter, comprised a congenial dinner party at one of the local hotels a few days ago. The dinner was arranged in celebration of Mr. Harter's aspirations for another term as Postmaster and of Mr. Hurley's candidacy for Republican County Chairman.

UNDINE BANQUET

Held Friday Evening in Memory of the Great Apostle of Old Ireland.

The Irish in Bellefonte were on top on Friday, St. Patrick's Day, and it was too bad that we hadn't enough green ink for "The Republican" last week to come out in St. Patrick attire. However, St. Patrick's Day passed into local history as a grand success in every particular. The social celebrations in the evening were numerous and diversified.

Probably the most striking feature was the St. Patrick's Day banquet held under the auspices of the Undine Steamer Co., at their handsome home on Bishop Street. While it celebrated the birth of the famous Apostle of Ireland it also celebrated the 13th anniversary of the occupancy of their new building, which is one of the most complete in this section of Pennsylvania. The large engine room was beautifully decorated with green bunting and the Old Glory. These pleasing environments had the tendency of drawing many Sons of Erin from their usual places of amusement. P. H. Gherrity, a veteran Undine, was in charge of the evening program and he left nothing undone that would add to the comforts of the guests. The inspiring music by an orchestra, composed of Frank Deitrick, Scott Lose, Henry Kline, Clarence Rhoads, Edward Zimmerman and William Bryant, was one of the features of the occasion. When they played nearly every foot in the place keep time with the popular airs.

In the large and commodious hall, brilliantly illuminated by the electric spark, there were three tables heavily laden with everything that would appease the most ravenous appetite. Beans and toasted shad were on the menu, which caused some of the boys to wish they had not partaken of supper earlier in the evening, but they managed to eat their share.

When it was time for St. Patrick toasts, Mr. Gherrity assumed the role of toastmaster, and before introducing the speakers showed he was well versed in the history of St. Patrick, whom the world delights to honor. This was followed by addresses, appropriate to the occasion, by Capt. H. S. Taylor, Francis Speer, Jacob Knisely, John Lambert, Harry Flack, John Houser and Scott Lose. The latter is one of the oldest musicians in Bellefonte. He has been playing in bands and orchestras for the last forty years. During that time he has belonged to seventeen bands, and all through these years has played for hundreds of our people who take pleasure in paying their tribute to Ireland's favorite son. This is certainly a good record and one of which Mr. Lose may be proud. The festivities of the evening were resumed when Frank Doll gave his Irish dance, which was done in a way that only a "Dutchman" can do. Then came the songs by a quartette, composed of Mac Heinle, Curt Johnson, Harry Flack and Frank Bartley, which was thoroughly enjoyed. Song and laughter continued until the wee sma hours of the morning. If St. Patrick could have looked down upon the boys on this occasion he would have certainly given them credit for being loyal to the cause.

As stated, the Undines have a fine home, but within the last two weeks great improvements have been made to the parlors, or meeting room. Beautiful designs of paper adorn the walls and to add to the attractiveness the windows and the furniture have been brightened up by the application of varnish. Lace curtins will be put up at the windows, making it one of the cosiest rooms in the town.

Born on St. Patrick's Day.

Rev. Patrick McArdle the popular priest of the Bellefonte St. John's Catholic church, had reason to doubly celebrate St. Patrick's Day on Friday. It was the anniversary of his birthday, and he is always among the happiest men in Bellefonte when that day comes around. He is a confirmed lover of the green and those who are closely associated with him can testify to this fact. He is a jolly, good fellow and has hosts of friends here who would have helped him celebrate the event had they known all the facts. That is, they would have made it lively for him. Father McArdle is a great man, and, as was St. Patrick, himself, is full of zeal and courage. He is a saintly man and has done a great deal of good in this community by helping others. Our people, therefore, have considerable reverence for him. He is one of the men who are trying to give his fellow-men flowers and keep things green about them, while they are living, instead of piling their caskets full after they are dead.

Appropriations Committee Coming.

On Thursday, March 30, the Appropriations Committee, of the State Legislature, headed by Chairman Woodward, will pass through Bellefonte enroute to State College. It is composed of twenty-five members of the Legislature, including J. C. Meyer, of Bellefonte. Speaker Cox will also accompany the committee. The committee will spend the day and the night at the College and on Friday morning they will come to Bellefonte where they will inspect the hospital. If it is possible the committee will be entertained by some of the citizens of the town at the Country Club, at Hecla Park.

WEEK OF MEETINGS

Interesting Tour of County by Sabbath School Association.

An interesting schedule of meetings, embracing a week's tour of Centre County is planned by the Sabbath School Association. The schedule has been so arranged as to provide for one meeting in each of the several districts in the County. Each meeting will be addressed by Miss Robison, one of the State field workers, and others, under the supervision of the subcommittee of six, recently appointed at Bellefonte. The schedule of meetings follows:

Monday afternoon, April 17, Stormstown, Eighth District.

Monday evening, April 17, Port Matilda, Third District.

Tuesday afternoon, April 18, Milesburg, Fourth District.

Tuesday evening, April 18, Snow Shoe, Second District.

Wednesday afternoon, April 19, Howard, Fifth District.

Wednesday evening, April 19, Hublersburg, Sixth District.

Thursday afternoon, April 20, Pine Grove Mills, Tenth District.

Thursday evening, April 20, State College, Ninth District,

Friday afternoon, April 21, Bellefonte, Seventh District.

Friday evening, April 21, Centre Hall, Eleventh District.

Saturday afternoon, April 22, Millheim, Twelfth District.

The annual County Convention will be held at Aaronsburg, July 17 and 18. Professor C. L. Gramley, of Aaronsburg, is president of the association. The secretary is L. W. Naftall, of Philipsburg.

An Elaborate Banquet.

Mining engineering students at State College on Friday evening, last, gave an elaborate banquet at the Nittany Inn, at State College. The function was one of the most successful held at that place in recent years. Covers were laid for seventy persons. The tables were tastefully decorated with flowers from the Horticultural Department. The after-dinner speakers included President Sparks, General Beaver, Joseph Mason, '07, and J. K. Johnston, Superintendent of the Charleroi Coal Company and a personal friend of Governor Tener. Dean Crane pronounced the banquet as a move in the right direction toward securing a greater mining engineering department at State College.

Moved to State College.

Philip R. Rupp on Tuesday moved his family from Pine Grove Mills to State College, where they will make their future home. Mr. Rupp will continue to follow his occupation of a contractor. Mrs. Rupp will open a parlor for ladies' furnishings. The Rupp family extend a cordial invitation to all of their friends to call on them at their State College home, which is at 426 East College Avenue, assuring them that they will be warmly welcomed.

Out for Commissioner.

P. S. Richards, of Taylor township, this week formally entered the race for nomination for County Commissioner on the Republican ticket. There are now four aspirants in the field for the two nominations—Commissioners Jacob Woodring and H. E. Zimmerman and Isaac Miller and Mr. Richards.

Offers to Help Towns Secure New Business

getting that united action is essential and every man's shoulder must be put to the wheel to insure success.

"Carefully assemble and compare your local advantages. Eliminate the disadvantages as far as practicable. Consider your resources, bear in mind present development, determine the character of development needed and for which your locality is best adapted, then spread the news and tell the world about it. A city set on a hill cannot be hid, and your community must not hide its light under a bushel. When in contemplative mood, we are prone to reflect upon 'piping time of peace,' but if you imagine that these are days of peace, it is because you cannot or will not hear the roar of battle. The battle is on, one of the greatest conflicts in American history—that wholesome, uplifting, good natured conflict between American Communities for supremacy. It is no ordinary battle, this conflict between American Communities, for although contending with one another we are at the same time fighting a common enemy, it is legion with spies and pickets everywhere. It has three closely allied generals, Apathy, Lethargy and Inaction. They are deeply and strongly intrenched they think, but those trenches are only the ruts that so often retard but must never be allowed to halt, the march of progress.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease, that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer. One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Samuel Showers Dead.

Samuel Showers, who had been Street Commissioner of Bellefonte for the last five years, died Wednesday evening about 10 o'clock at his home on Spring street. He had been ill but two days with peritonitis. He was a most excellent gentleman, and a faithful employe. The deceased was 60 years. For years he was a member of the Lutheran church and sang in the choir. He is survived by a wife and the following children: Mrs. Frank Woomer, Ida, Eva, Fearon, Nelson and Cornell. At the time of going to press no arrangements had been made for the funeral.

During the high wind last Thursday a portion of the roof of the west wing of the Crider greenhouse was blown off and about $100 worth of Mr. Crider's most valuable plants were frozen.

Peter Robb, Jr., and family returned to their farm on Marsh Creek, after a residence of several years in Howard, during which time they were engaged in the restaurant and ice cream business.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Yearick this week moved onto his father's farm in Nittany valley, much preferring the life of a farmer to that of the city office man. Mr. Yearick had previously been employed in Philadelphia.

The quarterly meeting of the Disciples of Christ, comprising the district of Centre, Clinton, Blair and Lycoming counties, will be held in the Christian Chapel at this place on Thursday and Friday, March 23 and 24.

Merchant C. C. Lucas and family are now occupying the home on Grove street recently purchased by him, and formerly occupied by Chauncey Pletcher. Mr. Lucas is thinking, however, of building a modern home on this site.

Mrs. Nancy Antis a former resident of Howard, died at the home of her daughter in Curwensville last Wednesday after a short illness. Her remains were brought to Curtin on Friday for interment. She is survived by three sons and two daughters.

The several congregations of the Howard and Nittany charge of the Reformed church have purchased the J. Will Mayes dwelling near the Evangelical church and the same will be used as the parsonage. The consideration was $2650. This home was but recently erected and being modern in every way will make a very desirable residence for the present and future pastors of this charge.

Blanchard.

Mr. and Mrs. James Clark, of Bellefonte, were recent visitors at the Robert H. Clark home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Bittner, with their son and daughter, Earl and Miss Edna, visited on Sunday at the home of Professor J. A. Robb, at Lock Haven.

Extensive repairs are being made to the quarters of the Blanchard Lodge, No. 427, I. O. O. F., located in the second floor of the Clark building. The interior walls are being freshly repapered and repainted, a handsome new rug has been placed in the main lodge room, new furniture has been secured and an improved gasoline lighting system has been installed. The lodge is one of the oldest and most substantial in this section of the State. The membership, which is quite large, is representative of the best citizenship in the community.

At the annual election of officers of the Presbyterian Sunday School, the following were chosen: George D. Hess, superintendent; Captain J. A. Quigley, assistant superintendent; H. H. Fearon, secretary; Earl R. Bittner, assistant secretary; Captain Quigley, treasurer; Miss Laura Mapes, organist; Miss Nellie Linn, superintendent of Cradle Roll; Miss Florence McGhee, assistant superintendent; Miss Beatrice Linn, superintendent of Home Department, with Miss Olga Sundin, assistant superintendent. The 50th anniversary of the Sunday School will be observed in June.

Pine Grove Mills.

Lester Goheen spent Sunday with his parents.

Miss Mary Ward is spending the week at State College.

Squire Keller and wife are visiting friends in Pittsburg.

Mrs. Sallie Bloom is down at Centre Hall, caring for the sick.

M. J. Watt, of Tyrone, was here between trains on Saturday.

Robert Hess, of Altoona, last week visited friends in the valley.

John Coleman, of Hollidaysburg, greeted old friends here last week.

J. H. Heberling spent Saturday at the Harry Ebbs home, at Guyer.

Jacob Creamer and wife, of State College, spent a day or two here recently.

Mrs. Oscar Bowersox and Miss Maude Dreibelbis visited friends here on Saturday.

A. J. Musser, of Clearfield, spent several days with his mother, on Main Street.

Frank Gates bought the Baudis farm, near Scotia, and will take possession April 1.

R. G. Goheen was here on Saturday for fat cattle for his butcher block at Baileyville.

J. I. Reed, our popular auctioneer, had a large sale in Huntingdon County on Saturday.

Mrs. J. C. Gilliland, of Oak Hall, was a welcome visitor at the McCracken home last week.

Charles Dick on Friday flitted to Phoenixville, where he will engage in the butcher business.

Roy Zimmerman and bride, of Peru, spent Sunday at the home of the latter's father, J. B. Witmer.

Arthur Ward, of State College, was a guest over Sunday at the home of his uncle Burt, at this place.

John Reifsnyder moved to Linden Hall last Monday. He will take charge of the Ross flouring mill.

Mrs. Ben. Everhart and baby girl, Lizzie, were welcome visitors at Grandpa Reed's home last week.

Ed Woomer spent last week in the western end of the State in the interest of his large milling trade.

Having been elected, George B. McFry was recently initiated into Tussey Council, No. 515, O. of I. A.

A 7-years-old daughter of William Johnson was so unfortunate recently as to cut off a finger with an axe.

Taylor Brothers, of Runville, were here last week and purchased a carload of cows for the Philadelphia market.

Miss Mary Swaab, of State College, and Miss Annie Gummo, of Bellefonte, spent Sunday with their respective parents here.

Andy. Gummo, of Hunter's Park, was royally entertained recently at the home of his sister, Mrs. S. A. Dunlap, on Water Street.

William Sausserman, one of the Pennsy's trusted engineers on the western division, spent Sunday at his parental home here.

Miss Inez Cronemiller, the efficient stenographer in the law office of H. S. Taylor, at Bellefonte, spent Sunday at the Decker home.

The Fishburn sale on Tuesday was a big one, both in the attendance and the things offered for sale. High prices ruled during the day.

Fred Tate has been elected to and is teaching the unexpired term of Frank Reed, at the Branch. Frank is confined to his bed with typhoid fever.

Last week John Corl purchased the flouring mill, at Struble. Mr. Corl is well fitted for his new job and no doubt will make a success of the venture.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Murphy are visiting friends at Bloomsburg. They attended the Methodist conference, to which Mr. Murphy was a delegate.

Homer and Ed. Decker, of Bellefonte, came up on Saturday to enjoy a square meal at the chicken and waffle supper given by the High School students.

Mrs. Maggie Watt Porter, of the Sucker State, is visiting friends of long ago down Penns Valley and will remain until April 1, when she will return to her home, at Monmouth, Ill.

Those entertained over Sunday at the home of our popular miller, J. H. Meyer, were Mr. and Mrs. William Bradford, Mr. and Mrs. John Martz and Mrs. Jerome Auman, all of Centre Hall.

The festival held by the High School freshmen and sophomores was a big success. Quite a number of students from State College were in attendance. The net proceeds, about $40, will be devoted to enlarging the High School library.

Scotia.

Mrs. Frank, of Graysville, was an over-Sunday visitor at the Farber home.

Prof. Johnstonbaugh attended the funeral of his brother-in-law, David Reed, in Pine Grove Mills, on Monday.

Miss Belle Spotts, of Port Matilda, spent several days last week at the home of John Johnstonbaugh. She greatly enjoyed her visit, and Charley did, too.

After attending the wedding of her sister, in Altoona, on Wednesday of last week, Miss Esther Pennington, of State College, visited her brother, Jesse, at Scotia, before returning home.

At the Baudis sale last Friday everything was sold and at fair prices. This means the breaking up of the Baudis family. One might say that the family will be scattered to the four corners of the earth; no two in any one place.

R. E. Cronemiller attended a sale the other day for the express purpose of buying meat, but when the meat was put up Rube quickly discovered he had made a mistake in not keeping hogs and providing his own supply. He said that it was a case of move up or run in that crowd, and that he is still hunting meat.

On the evening of Friday, March 17th, there was quite a gathering of young folks at the home of the Sellers sisters, on Buffalo Run. All enjoyed themselves with games and music until the wee sma hours. During the evening delicious refreshments were served. Scotia was well represented.

On last Saturday almost every man who was not working went down to Gatesburg to Isaac Harpster's sale. Wilson Ghaner, the telephone pole man, told some of the boys that he would ride a horse back home. He spent a part of his time picking out the horse he would buy, but, alas, there were others there who wanted to ride home. That is what makes a sale, all right, but it also made Wilson walk home.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Murtorff spent Saturday and Sunday in Bellefonte as guests of their son, Harry. While they were there they were piloted about by Harry and his good wife. What pleased the visitors most was the Scenic. Calvin said that they can take the picture of a horse while it is running, all right, but that he would like to see them catch a mule in action, especially in the neighborhood of its hind feet.

Jacob Ghaner, our popular shoemaker, is thinking of closing his shop for a month and going down on the farm for a good long rest. He has not been feeling very well for some time and thinks the change will do him good. His ailment is a rather peculiar one. Jacob hardly knows whether he eats too much or too little, but any visitor to his shop along about noon would learn at a glance that there was no famine there.

On Monday morning, after preparing breakfast for herself and her husband, Mrs. Thomas Lear, an aged woman of Marysville, died very suddenly. Her husband, who also is quite old, walked into another room to lie down after eating his breakfast. When he returned to the dining room he found his wife dead. At this writing no arrangements have been made for the funeral, everything being left to her son, who is at Ford City, and who started for home as soon as he received the word of his mother's death. Mrs. Lear was 79 years of age.

Unionville.

Mrs. William Turner is critically ill from diseases incident to advancing years.

Dr. W. U. Irwin is patiently waiting for the roads to dry up so that he may try his new auto.

It is time our town got busy and installed the water works they have been talking about for years.

Leonard Watson, on Wednesday, removed from this place to Pleasant Gap, where he has secured a position in the lime kilns.

Walter M. Brugger, formerly of this place, died at the Asbury Hospital, at Minneapolis, Minn., on Tuesday evening from heart trouble. The remains will be brought to this place by his brother, John P. Brugger, who left for Minneapolis on Wednesday.

About 8.30 o'clock on Tuesday morning the alarm sounded. Upon investigation it was found that the roof of Dr. E. A. Russell's barn was on fire. The doctor had built a fire in his office and supposedly a spark from the flue fell upon the barn roof. The fire brigade promptly responded and quickly extinguished the blaze.

Didn't I tell you so? By this time you all know it. The home talent entertainment held on Friday and Saturday evenings was the best thing that has happened in this town in recent years. Too much praise cannot be given to every one in the cast. Each one performed in first-class style. We certainly have the home talent here to put up a show that will "make good" anywhere. The Y. M. E. A. expect to hold an entertainment every three months. The receipts at the door on Friday amounted to $20.80, and on Saturday night, $22.50, making a total of $43.30. Saturday night's receipts would have reached $35 or $40, but owing to a lack of seating capacity many persons coming from a distance were turned away. We are very much in need of a larger hall in our town to accommodate the people on occasions such as this. The Y. M. E. A. wish to announce that they will subscribe toward a new hall, or toward remodeling and enlarging the old one.

Woodward.

Mrs. Ard was a visitor to Pine Grove Mills last week.

Clayton Boob, from Mifflinburg, was in town on business one day last week.

Mrs. Phoebe Wise is spending the week with her son, Samuel Orndorf, at Madisonburg.

Mrs. Fannie Moyer, from Coburn, spent the greater part of last week at the home of her brother, here.

Arthur Herman, from Tamaqua, was a visitor at the Woodward House for several days recently.

Among those on the sick list are Mrs. Joe Ard, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bowersox, Jackson Sheesley and Paul Orndorf.

Harold Stover and wife and their daughter, Miss May Belle, also Miss Carrie Immel, spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. Stover's mother, Mrs Hoy.

About sixty young persons from Aaronsburg, Wolfe's Chapel, Fiedler and this place gathered at the home of Jerry Martin on Friday evening for a party. They spent the evening very pleasantly. Refreshments, consisting of ice cream and cake, were served and all present had an enjoyable time.

Select School at Howard.

The Howard Select School will open on April 17. Special attention will be given to those preparing to teach, and to review the common school branches. For further particulars inquire of H. A. Robb, Howard, Pa.

Milesburg.

Clinton Swartz, of Tyrone, was home over Sunday.

Rev. R. S. Oyler this week attended the conference at Bloomsburg.

Roland Bryan, who is employed at Altoona, spent Sunday at home.

Miss Creasie Hanna spent the Sabbath at the home of her parents, at Flemington.

William Walker has been suffering from a sprained ankle for the last two weeks.

John Whitman, after a few days' visit home, returned to Hicks Run, where he is employed.

When school closes, Walter Hugg will resume his position as agent for the City Steam Laundry.

Mrs. Annie Witherite, of Valley View, spent Tuesday at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. W. Smith.

Clyde Cox, of McKeesport, was called home this week by the death of his father, Marshall Cox.

Ralph Thomas, a student at State College, was a visitor this week to the home of his father, W. B. Thomas.

Mrs. George Walk, of DuBois, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Boyer, also her sister, Mrs. Frank Baird.

James McCullough has been doing some extensive repairing to his residence—new floors, painting, papering, etc.

Harry Austin is going to purchase a Simplex cleaner and will be ready for spring house cleaning. Anybody wanting rooms cleaned will do well to consult Mr. Austin.

Bliss Aikey, of Bellefonte, will occupy the house on Pike Street, to be vacated by Professor S. M. Robb. Mr. Aikey is a barber by trade and is a good, clean fellow. He will open a shop in the W. W. Smith building. Hair cutting, 10 cents; shaving, 10 cents.

Snow Shoe

Scott Walker is all smiles; its a boy.

Mrs. Robert Park, Sr., who has been ill for some time from jaundice, is slowly recovering.

Jamas F. Uzzle, who has been confined to his home for some time with throat trouble, is on the road to recovery.

The Angel of Death has again entered the home of W. G. Kissling, this time calling their cherished son, Henry, who passed away on Friday of last week.

Easter Sunday will afford our young ladies an opportunity to show the latest spring styles, also the advantage of having a generous father or husband.

Mrs. Hettie Thompson, an aged and highly respected resident of Snow Shoe, died on Wednesday night at her late residence on Fourth Street. She was aged 76 years.

A pretty wedding was solemnized on Monday evening at the home of Peter Houser, the contracting parties being his son, Harry, and Miss Christina Seylor. After the ceremony a wedding supper was served. The function was attended by quite a number of friends of the happy young couple.

A play entitled, "Jumbo Jum," will be rendered by the graduating class of the Snow Shoe High School on the park pavillion, on Friday evening, March 24. This play was booked for Friday, March 17th, but due to illness, and finally the death of one of the members of the class, the date was advanced one week.

Messrs. Hayes and Dailey, the genial porters at the Mountain House, have long protested to the management that their well-earned slumber has been disturbed by guests who retire rather late. In order to overcome this difficulty, and also to come in handy in case of fire, the management has had constructed a modern fire escape, which may be used as a staircase for guests who turn in late.

Mt. Eagle.

Irvin Robinson, Sr., is busy hauling paper wood.

Miss Katy Mason, who is employed at Bellefonte, spent Sunday here with her mother.

Austin Bathurst, who fractured his arm some time ago, is again able to be about on the street.

Mrs. Nancy Antes, widow of the late James Antes, who died at her late home at Curwensville, was buried by the side of her husband in the cemetery at Curtin.

Mr. Tobias, who purchased the Pletcher farm from Thad. Yearick, moved his family on Thursday into their new home. He will engage in the wholesale chicken business in the near future.

Will Robinson, who lived along Marsh Creek, recently had sale and moved his family to Mt. Eagle. He is occupying the house vacated by his brother, Al., who is living in the DeLong house, on Marsh Creek.

Base Ball Benefit.

The Bellefonte Academy Minstrels, under the direction of Harry Armstrong, of State College, assisted by the Bellefonte Dramatic Club, in charge of Mrs. John M. Shugert and Mrs. Thos. Mitchell, are now engaged in preparing an entertainment which will be given in Garman's opera house on Friday and Saturday, May 5th and 6th.

With such an array of competent instructors there can be no question but what this amatuer entertainment will be one of the finest ever given in Bellefonte. Surely the very best talent is at work which is a guarantee that all who go will be pleased.

The proceeds will go toward paying off last year's indebtedness of the Bellefonte baseball club and what is left will go towards helping the club along the coming summer. The opera house should be crowded both nights.

Nearly everybody knows that Ivory Soap is the best of bath, nursery and fine laundry soaps.

But a great many people do not know that it is just as good for the toilet as for the bath.

It is, though; and for the same reason: It is pure soap and nothing else.

A Pastoral Love Affair

Combination of the Natural and the Artificial.

By ARTHUR BEMERTON

Copyright by American Press Assoation, 1911.

Bessie and I fell in love naturally—in fact, too naturally. I have often thought how pleasant it must be for the animals and birds to mate without having to look into each other's record. A tiger may not only kill a man, but eat him and mate with a most respectable tigress without any questions being asked. Two birds may meet on the branch of a tree and without the slightest knowledge of each other become mates. But man and woman must not only know all about each other, but be of the same grade and each have a clean record, or there comes a lot of trouble.

And the most singular thing about it all is that either of them will murder any animal, except their own kind, and eat the carcass.

I, being an artist, when the buds were beginning to open went into the country to catch that first delicate shade of pale green which appears on the trees at that season. I was sitting on my tripod in a wood working in the colors when I heard the bark of a dog, and a moment later a little terrier stood growling at me. A girl, budding like the trees, not into leaves, but into womanhood, hurried up, calling in a soft voice:

"Frisk! Come away, Frisk! What do you mean?"

I paid no attention to the dog, and there was no need for the girl to call him off, for he had no idea of attacking me, but he gave me an excuse for addressing the girl.

And yet I question if any excuse was required. People who meet in crowds are constrained by conventionalities. We two, meeting in a wood, with not a sound about us—when the dog had ceased barking—except an occasional twitter of birds engaged in nest building, felt constrained in another way. We were impelled to be companionable. I began by telling her not to mind the dog, that he wouldn't disturb me, and she sidled around where she could catch a view of my sketch. One thing led to another until we felt quite well acquainted. I had chosen a delightful spot to transfer to canvas. It was on a declivity. An opening in the trees below revealed a patch of landscape, while at my feet gurgled a stream, at this season well supplied with water from snows recently melted at higher altitudes. The air was balmy and laden with perfumes.

One has but to mention this outline picture to indicate the result. Given an opening spring in a wood, buds, wild flowers, twittering birds, a vista, a brook, a dog and lastly a young man and a young woman, both in the first freshness of youth, what follows? Why, exactly what the poet says—the young man's (and the young woman's) fancy turns to thoughts of love.

The result of this meeting was another meeting and another and another. I didn't count them; I was too preoccupied to do so. I painted so long on my picture that before I finished it the delicate shade I had come to the country for had grown into a dark green and the full grown leaves had blotted out the vista which gave the work more than half its beauty. But while this beauty was disappearing the bud of love was opening.

So much for the natural features of this story. Now come the artificial—viz, a girl's confession to her father that she had met her fate, but had not met with any knowledge of that fate's antecedents; then a command from the father, tears from the girl and a triangular condition between the father, the girl and the artist such as has taken place ever since the first primeval girl planned to give her father the slip and climb a tree with the first primeval youth, the tree being too high for the old gentleman to follow. Bessie's father was really as reasonable as we considered him unreasonable. He merely wished to know who I was. Since I had lived in South America from the time I was two until twenty-two years of age I must send there for my credentials, involving a delay of a month or more. What cruelty to force a pair of lovers to wait all that time in a state of suspense!

"Sweetheart," I said to her one day, "suppose the reply should come that I am an escaped defaulter, jailbird, murderer."

"I would not believe the story."

"But your father would," I added sententiously.

One day, after having painted alone in the wood, on leaving it I saw something half covered with shriveled branches and dead leaves. I examined it and found the dead body of a man. Horrified lest I might be implicated in a murder, I threw back what I had removed and was about to hurry away when I saw two men coming for me. Within five minutes I was on my way to the nearest police station.

My antecedents were now not so much needed to enable me to possess my love as to preserve my neck. The status had changed a second time. The case was not now one of a father, a girl and an unknown man, but a father, a girl and an unknown man accused of murder. I sent at once a note to Bessie, informing her of my trouble, encouraging her to keep up a good heart and assuring her of my innocence. Receiving no reply, I concluded that her father would not permit her to send a reply.

Brooding in my cell, I could not but revert to the good old primeval times I have cited before when a suitor might kill as many of his fellow beings as he pleased without being objected to on that score for a son-in-law. I had killed no one. I was merely suspected of killing a man. And if Bessie's father did not kill men he killed the next grade of animal below men—or other men did the work for him, which is just as criminal—and devoured the flesh. It seemed to me that the only logical beings are the beasts and the birds. They kill and eat each other without inquiring whether or no they are eating the same species, while man—well, this is what man does.

He kills and eats every animal below himself. To kill even one of his own kind he considers the greatest of crimes unless he kills them in battle, where the more men he kills the bigger man he is, which is exactly what made the chiefs among his savage ancestors.

I was so impressed with this reasoning that I asked my jailer for writing materials and wrote it down, or, rather, elaborated the bare skeleton I had thought out. When it was finished I asked to have it delivered to Bessie's father.

In due time a reply came as follows:

I have always desired my daughter to marry a man distinguished for something. Artists and poets are usually distinguished for their ideality. You, being one of the kind, share that distinction. You may further lay claim to being the most impracticable numskull that, to my knowledge, the world has yet produced. You have interested me in yourself and your case. I have retained the best criminal lawyer I can find to take charge of your case, and if your innocence is proved I shall deem my daughter honored in wedding such an eminent fool.

This reply stung me to the quick. I regarded it as tantamount to a refusal of his daughter's hand even if my innocence were proved. As to the lawyer he spoke of hiring for me, I wrote him immediately that I had engaged the most eminent counsel in the land and would have no need of the one he had retained.

What was my surprise, when I was folding and addressing this second letter, to receive a visit from Bessie.

She threw herself into my arms hysterically. I couldn't tell whether it was joy or grief that moved her. When she became calmer I spoke of her father's communication.

"Father has turned right around," she said. "He's your friend forever."

"Really?"

"Yes, really. He considers you innocent of this crime with which you are charged. He says that no man who could have written that letter could have committed murder and if he did he would convince the judge that there was no case against him, since there is no logical difference between killing a man and a steer."

"I am glad," I said, embracing her, "that in thousands of years one couple may in some respects return to the natural methods of our progenitors. Are you quite sure your father is sincere in his change of mind toward me?"

"I am. If he were not he would not have permitted me to come here to visit you. He says you are the first man he ever met who did not talk and act artificially. He's simply delighted with you."

I showed her the note I had written declining her father's offer of counsel. She burst out laughing. I asked what amused her.

"You haven't any money to pay counsel," she said.

"Upon my word! I never thought of that."

"You are ideal and impractical," she said. "That's the reason I love you." And she embraced me.

Our colloquy was broken in upon by the sheriff, who came in to say that the real murderer had been arrested and had confessed. I was free to go. At the same time he handed me a letter postmarked Rio Janeiro.

"Ah," I exclaimed, "my credentials!"

Slipping the letter in my pocket, I accompanied Bessie to her father's house. He greeted me warmly, and I handed him the credentials I had received at the jail. Removing the envelope, he began to read, his eyes opening wider as he read.

"Are you a fool or a knave?" he asked, looking up at me.

"Both," I replied.

"What is it?" asked Bessie.

"Why, daughter, this pastoral business of yours has resulted in your catching the only son and heir of the biggest coffee planter in Brazil. I knew when I received his note that he was an original, but I didn't know he was rich. You tell me," addressing me, "that you are both fool and knave. Will you kindly inform me of the introspective reasoning by which you have arrived at this result?"

"Well," I replied, "no one but a fool who has the career before him that I have would spend his time sitting on a three legged stool in a wood daubing, and no one but a knave would make love to a girl without her father even knowing that he is doing it."

It was decided that Bessie and I should be married in June, and I concluded for my prospective father-in-law's sake—who must have a noted man for his daughter, even if a fool—to return to Brazil. I told Bessie's father that I should like to be married in the wood on a carpet of June roses, whereupon he said that he had had enough of that nonsense and didn't wish any more of it.

So we were married in a very matter of fact fashion at the bride's home of course, and sailed a few days later for my country.

I am now one of the most prominent citizens of Brazil and consequently much out of my element.

Old Enough to Be Good.

He was a liquid eyed Spaniard en tour through Italy. She was a New England maiden lady doing Florence. They met first at the pension table d'hote and next in the Uffizi gallery.

"The madonna of which you spoke," said the liquid eyed Spaniard, "is across the hall and down to the right two doors. It hangs in gallery 3."

"According to my Baedeker," protested the New England maiden lady, "it hangs in gallery 5."

"Pardon. It is impossible," protested the Spaniard. "It stands here in my Baedeker that it is to be found in gallery 3."

"Perhaps," said the New England maiden, "your book is out of date. But it is easy to assure ourselves who is right. Let us go to gallery 3 or to gallery 5 and see."

"Madame," said the Spaniard, with some emotion, "it is not necessary to exert ourselves. This book, madame, is perfectly reliable. My grandfather himself assured me so. It is the very volume that he used when he himself toured Italy at my age."—Detroit Free Press.

A Breach of Good Form.

There is a little east end girl, still under six, who reaches the limit in the matter of sensitiveness. Likewise she has her points in respect to dead gameness. She was taken about a week ago to spend a few days with her aunt. The little miss played around in front of her aunt's place for awhile. Then her aunt let a playful young terrier into the yard, saying to the child:

"This is your little four footed cousin."

Five minutes later the aunt returned to the front yard to call the kid into the house, but she wasn't anywhere to be seen. The fox terrier was playing alone. There was a scrambling hunt for the child and all kinds of alarm, but the little girl didn't turn up. The aunt hustled into town. The little girl was home with her mother.

She had walked right to the car for town as soon as the fox terrier pup was presented to her.

"Why didn't you stay at aunty's?" her mother asked her in surprise.

"She introduced me to a dog!" replied the haughty young person.—Cincinnati Post.

"The Soul of Golf."

One who knew the soul of golf saw it and described it. It was a tricky green, with a drop of twenty feet behind it. To have overrun it would have been fatal. There was a stiff head wind. The player would not risk running up. He cut well in under the ball to get all the back spin he could. He pitched the ball well up against the wind, which caught it and, on account of the spin, threw it up and up until it soared almost over the hole, then it dropped like a shot bird about a yard from the hole, and the back spin gripped the turf and held the ball within a foot of where it fell. It was obvious to one man that it was a crude shot. It was equally obvious to another, who knew the inner secrets of the game, that it was a brilliantly conceived and beautifully executed stroke. One man saw nothing of the soul of the stroke. He got the husk and the other took the kernel.—P. B. Valle in North American Review.

An Unusual Opportunity.

The young clergyman had been urged by his bishop to raise in his small parish as large a sum as possible to swell the fund for the people of a faroff isle. The rector had put the need before his people as graphically as he was able, but he was not gifted with eloquence and felt that his appeal had not struck home to the hearts of his listeners. He made a last attempt to rouse their enthusiasm for the worthy cause.

"Think of them, so far away," he said earnestly. "Think of 20,000 persons living without the privileges of Christian burial, while any of you here in this little town may have the advantages of four handsome cemeteries, and give of your abundance, my brethren, to those who have nothing."—Youth's Companion.

JUST LIKE A MAN

The Lively Interest He Took in His Wife's Economical Dressing.

"John, will you please unhook my waist?"

"All right, as soon as I get my collar off."

"Don't you think this dress is becoming?"

"Yep."

"I think it makes me look slimmer than I look in any of the rest of my dresses, don't you?"

"I guess so."

"Did you see anybody there who was dressed in better taste than I?"

"Nope."

"And think how cheaply I got it made. Do you remember that pink dress I had two years ago?"

"I dunno."

"Oh, yes, you remember it, John, the one I had made when I went to St. Louis. Would you suspect that I have had all the beaded trimming from that gown put on this one?"

"No."

"Well, I have. If I had bought it new it would have cost $25. Don't you think I manage well?"

"Uh, huh!"

"Do you suppose there's another woman in this town who dresses as splendidly as I do on what you allow me for clothes?"

"I've never throught anything about it."

"Well, you would think about it if you got such bills as most women make their husbunds pay. Did you see any one there who looked better than I did?"

"I didn't look around much."

"Did you ever see me when I looked better?"

"I guess not."

"Think what it means to you when I make such a fine appearance. Everybody must get the impression that you are able to give me a much larger allowance than you do for clothes. It gives the impression that you are prosperous. Haven't you seen what an advantage it is to have people get such an idea?"

"I've never noticed it."

"Oh, pshaw! One might as well talk to a stick as to you!"—Chicago Record-Herald.

What Cures Eczema?

We have had so many inquiries lately regarding Eczema and other skin diseases, that we are glad to make our answer public. After careful investigation we have found that a simple wash of Oil of Wintergreen, as compounded D. D. D., can be relied upon. We would not make this statement to our patrons, friends and neighbors unless we were sure of it—and although there are many so-called Eczema remedies sold, we ourselves unhestatingly recommend D. D. D. Prescription.

Because—We know that it gives instant relief to that torturing itch.

Because—D. D. D. starts the cure at the foundation of the trouble.

Because—It cleanses, soothes and heals the skin.

Weds Girl in Jail.

At Chattanooga, Tenn., Dr. John W. Sherman and Miss C. D. Lucas were married in the city jail at midnight on Thursday, their hands joined through the bars of the cell in which the doctor was locked. The fact was discovered on the return of the marriage certificate. The bride had disguised herself as a negro boy and the justice who performed the ceremony pretended to be a friend.

The doctor is held for killing his brother-in-law Thomas Norman and Mrs. Grace Norman, the widow, was one of the witnesses to the wedding. Miss Lucas was the chief witness against Dr. Sherman and it is the belief the wedding was to prevent her testifying against Sherman as under the Tennessee law a wife cannot give evidence against her husband.

HURRY-UP EATING

How a Railroad Dining Car is Stocked to Meet an Emergency.

"Hello—yes, this is the Commissary. A second section on number 29? All right. I haven't got a car, but I'll get one. Number 2001 just came into Jersey City. Have her sent over—good bye."

This cryptic telephone conversation was heard recently by a visitor to the dining car commissary of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Sunnyside Yard on Long Island. It took place at 12.30 P. M. It meant that by 2.45 a car which had just arrived in Jersey City, after a long run, must leave the yards to be made up in the eighteen hour train for Chicago prepared to serve a table d'hote dinner to from 50 to 75 travelers on the trip west as far as Altoona, and luncheon and dinner on the return trip the next day.

It was short notice; but, as explained by the Assistant Superintendent of Dining Cars and Restaurants, who is in charge of the Commisssary, the dining car man is used to short notices. Immediately the big supply depot was in a hum of preparation.

Until the steward arrived with his car to report the supplies on hand and make a requisition for the new ones needed, the exact amount to prepare could not be known. There was no waiting, however. With long experience as his guide the storekeeper immediately set about estimating what would be called for, and soon porters were hurrying from the huge storage rooms with fresh meat, poultry, butter, eggs, and all the numerous articles that might be needed to supply the wants of 150 or 200 people.

As soon as the diner came into the yard a little army of washers fell upon her. Every inch of steel car, inside and out, was thoroughly scrubbed. All the soiled table cloths, napkins, etc. were taken to the linen room and exchanged for clean ones. The foodstuffs were carefully inspected and anything that was not in perfect condition was condemned. The steward turned in his report showing what he had brought back and what new supplies he would need. Together with one of the commissary checkers he examined each article to see that he received everything called for in his requisition. The supplies were then carried to the car on a motor truck and stored away in the compact little kitchen and pantry which were shining from their recent scrubbing.

Promptly at two-forty-five the car pulled out; every table gleaming with shining silver and spotless linen, the white-coated waiters ready to serve the evening meal.

This was merely an incident in the general routine of dining car management; one of the many contingencies which must be met by the men in charge. The new Pennsylvania plant at Sunnyside is the largest and best equipped in the world. It is the base of supplies for forty-eight steel cars. In it are stores worth hundreds of thousands of dollars. There are 612 persons engaged in operating the cars and a force of 28 in the commissary.

But the direction of this great plant is only a part of the work entrusted to the Superintendent of Dining Cars and Restaurants. His office in the Pennsylvania Station at Thirty-third Street and Seventh Avenue, New York, has control of 1120 men. Besides the steel cars at Sunnyside Yard there are ten wooden cars and six station restaurants on the lines east of Pittsburg.

The management of the restaurant in the recently completed station at New York is a gigantic undertaking in itself. It requires the services of two hundred employes. Instead of the usual railway lunch room, with its hurried service and food spoiled by long "warming", the restaurant situated at the inside end of the arcade is equal in appointments and service to those in the large hotels of New York. These beautiful dining rooms are already beginning to attract crowds other than travelers from the district around the station. The classical simplicity of the rooms themselves is a relief after the tinsel and gilt of the Broadway taverns.

An inspection of the kitchen and pantries shows that the equipment represents the last word in modern culinary apparatus. The labor saving devices for washing dishes, peeling and mashing potatoes, etc. are a constant source of wonder to visitors who are used to seeing these things done "as mother used to do them."

Here electric motors do the work. There is an ice-cutting machine that resembles a miniature saw-mill. All the ice used in the glasses, and there is none used in any other way for the refrigerators are cooled by the cold storage system, is cut into little cubes. One man devotes all his time to running this machine.

In the kitchen an army of cooks and helpers in white caps and aprons, busy themselves around twelve glowing fires. Besides these there are four gas and three charcoal broilers, and six gas roasting ovens.

All cupboards, drawers and shelves are of metal and white enamel, which can be easily kept clean. The greasy wood that one expects to see in a kitchen is not to be found.

When the visitor has been led through the vast storerooms and the numerous offices; from the kitchen on the top floor to the plant in the cellar where all garbage is frozen into a hard innocuous mass, he has a new idea of the way food is cared for and prepared in a restaurant. Then if he considers that this is only one of the six restaurants, to say nothing of the fifty-eight dining cars, that are managed by the Superintendent—well, he will understand why there is no rest for the dining car man.

A Natural Genius.

Most of the people in Bellefonte imagine that the only thing Mart Garman has to do is to enjoy himself riding behind that beautiful gray horse that is admired by the public in general. While it is true he has a fondness for his horse yet he has other qualities and attainments that are not generally known. He is a natural genius when it comes to cabinet work. On the third floor of his handsome residence, on Curtin Street, he has a work-shop which is fitted up with the best tools and equipment that money can buy. Here he puts in much of his spare time, and he has earned an enviable reputation for high class cabinet work. He has turned out many things with a finish and artistic taste not to be excelled by veteran mechanics. He has made chairs, tables and other furniture, which are considered to be beautiful, and show much skill and taste. He has also made a mission clock which is much admired by all who have seen it. It is certainly a very nice way for him to put in his spare moments.

A Bottled Note.

Thomas Colby, who resides at the city home, while along the river recently below the dam, found a bottle along the edge of the stream, which contained a small roll of paper. On breaking the bottle it was found that the note bore the names and addresses of two young ladies of this city, one a resident of the First ward and the other residing in the Third ward. The note is dated January 15, 1911, and requests the finder to write. The bottled missive was evidently dropped in the river during the January flood, with the expectation that it would be carried to the Chesapeake bay, and be picked up by some young gallant. But alas, it drifted into an eddy after being carried but a short distance and was washed upon the shore. The next time these girls go in for a little romance of this kind, they should go out on the river bridge and throw the bottled note in the middle of the stream. In that event it might at least reach Williamsport.—Lock Haven Democrats.

The Gideons and Their Bible.

New York Tribune says that the Gideons, a band af religiously inclined commercial travelers who recently placed 6,000 Bibles in Chicago hotel rooms, are much pleased with the reception of the innovation. Their secretary, in a statement to the Chicago papers, says: "We have received numerous letters, pathetic and thankful, telling us of the work accomplished by placing the work of God before the transients who occupy rooms in Chicago's hotels. One man wrote that he looked forward to the time when the rooms in every hotel in the world would contain as a part of their furnishings copies of the Bible. The hotel people and those in touch with the men and women who are reached by these Bibles are enthusiastic about work."

To Clean up Little Delaware

Appealed to by Rev. Thomas Shannon, new president of the Anti-Saloon League of New Jersey, in an address at the end of Friday's session, the New Jersey Methodist Episcopal conference pledged itself to clean up the state by getting into active politics and electing legislators. Dr. Shannon was followed by Dr. Stephens Herbert, of Chicago, member of the board of managers of the Methodist Temperance society, who said "give the women suffrage and they will clean up every county in New Jersey."

Dr. Shannon said that the saloon interests did not care how many train loads of church delegations were sent to the capitol to protest against liquor legislation.

"Give us local option and we can as a conservative estimate clean up eighteen counties of the state."

Left $1,000 For Cat's Care.

By the will of Julia K. Baker, of Worcester, filed in the probate court on Saturday, $1,000 is set aside from the estate which is estimated at about $25,000 for the care and comfort of her pet cat. The will provides as follows:

"A sum of $1,000 to pay therefrom each year $125 to Margaret Hurley, of Worcester, as long as my favorite cat, now in her care, continues to live and be cared for by said Margaret Hurley. If for any reason it becomes necessary to have the cat cared for by some other person, said payments are to be made to said other person, it being my object to provide for the comfort and welfare of the cat while it lives."

For the purpose of correcting any errors of appraisements, an appeal will be held at County Treasurer's office, Bellefonte, Pa., on Saturday, April 22nd, 1911, between the hours of 10 A. M. and 3 P. M., and those who so desire can attend.

S. S. MILES,
Mercantile Appraiser.

Here and There.

James B. Cook was home over Sunday

Huntingdon county is building a new jail at a cost of $15,867.83.

Professor and Mrs. Jonas E. Wagner were over-Sunday visitors at Houserville.

J. Will Mayes, of Howard, greeted friends and transacted business in town on Tuesday.

Dr. and Mrs. T. R. Hayes have left South Carolina and are again occupying their Atlantic City cottage.

Abram Weber, one of Howard's progressive business men, was a Bellefonte visitor between trains on Monday.

It is a pleasure to us to this week enroll S. S. Pletcher, of Washington. D. C., as a regular reader of "The Republican."

O. N. Yarnell, of Nittany, who is a regular reader of "The Republican," was a Bellefonte visitor on Saturday evening.

Miss Ella Jones, of Bellefonte, was a pleasant caller at this office a few days ago, her mission being to advance her subscription to "The Republican."

John Toner Harris, of Harrisburg, arrived in Bellefonte on Friday and spent a day or two here as the guest of his mother, Mrs. Henry Harris, on Howard Street.

On Thursday morning Mrs. Scot Weiland, of Williamsport, and Mrs. Harry Jenkins, of Bellefonte, braved the cold weather by taking a little drive into the country to visit friends.

Amos Cole, of Lewistown, spent Sunday in Bellefonte as the guest of his sister, Mrs. Earl C. Tuten, on Linn Street. He returned Sunday evening. He is another of the young men from Bellefonte who is making good.

Recently Coleville lost two of its best citizens in the persons of John Cogan, who moved to Tyrone, and Frank Smith, who moved up Buffalo Run. The board of trade out there will have to get a hustle on or there will be no men left to run the street cars.

William P. Humes last week received a fine yearling Hereford bull from the stock farm of Owen Underwood & Son, at Unionville. Mr. Underwood and his son, Chapman, are breeders of the highest grade of polled Hereford cattle and the product of their stock farm finds a ready sale in all parts of the country.

It is always a pleasure to us to hear from such valued subscribers to "The Republican" as S. E. Pfoutz, of Osceola Mills. A day or two ago we received a very kindly letter, enclosing a postal order covering all back numbers of the paper and also a year's subscription in advance. Thank you, Mr. Pfoutz. Our hat is off to you, and may you live long and continue to prosper.

C. J. Miller, who years ago lived in Bellefonte but who for quite a while has been a successful contractor in Pittsburg, spent several days in town last week, having been called here by the death of his mother, the late Mrs. Susan Miller. While in town Mr. Miller greeted many of his old-time friends. Before returning to Pittsburg, on Monday, Mr. Miller was a caller at "The Republican" office.

Ed. Gillen, the Allegheny Street grocer, is one of our new subscribers, his name being added to our list of regular readers of "The Republican" several days ago. Persons who have never visited the Gillen grocery store will be agreeably surprised to find what a fine assortment of goods is on hand. They will be even more agreeably surprised to learn how reasonable are the Gillen store prices.

George Robb, of Coleville, was in Bellefonte on Thursday and he said the thermometer registered five degrees below zero. On Wednesday he had ten young chickens come out of the shell, and the extreme cold weather coming on made it necessary to put them in a basket under the stove to keep them warm. In the meantime George came to Bellefonte for yarn so that his good wife could knit stockings for the "peepies." If that doesn't do George will buy gum shoes for them.

At the Methodist Conference, which closed at Bloomsburg on Tuesday, Rev. C. C. Shuey, of Bellefonte, was chosen one of the district presidents of the Local Preachers Association, which is composed of 120 local ministers. The object of the association is to encourage every man to endeavor to give the work his best efforts, and to better fit himself for the work by studying and using his talents that lie dormant. By being elected district president Mr. Shuey's sphere of usefulness has been enlarged.

About 11:30 o'clock "Buddy" Kerns and Andy Morrison met on the diamond, near the Bellefonte Trust Co's. building. They were both in a good humor for talking, and one word brought on another, when they pulled off their coats and were ready to have a sparring match. Policeman Daley Justice walked up and prevented the fight. They became obstreperous when the officer finally decided to take them to the lock-up. When near Beezer's meat market Abe Jackson, (colored) came up and began to interfere but officer Justice gave him a tap with his mace and he quickly disappeared.

Dr. Thos. C. VanTries returned from his southern trip on the 15th inst. During his absence he traveled 3500 miles, was in 10 states, and stopped off in 15 or 16 different cities or points of interest in the Southern States. The Doctor was invited to deliver his recital, entitled, "Anecdotes and Reminiscences of Eminent Men and Women Whom I have Seen and Heard," at Reedsville, Pa., as a benefit for the Lewistown Hospital, on Tuesday evening, March 21st, 1911. He will deliver his new lecture, entitled, "Matters Matrimonial, or Getting Married," at Belleville, Mifflin County, Pa., this (Thursday) evening.

Harry F. Miller, the enterprising grocer, whose store opposite the Phoenix mill is kept busy from one end of the week to the other, stopped us on the street a few days ago and handed over a crisp one dollar bill. This advanced his subscription to "The Republican" to well toward the close of the present year. While we are speaking of Harry Miller's store, we want to explain that it has a very large country trade and as a result Harry is seldom, if ever, out of the finest country butter and fresh eggs. It is a pleasure to deal at the Miller store, for one always gets the best of everything in the market and the prices are always reasonable.

Liggett's chocolates, the finest made, 40c& 80c—at Green's.

Three children of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gheret, of Bellefonte, are quite ill.

Mr. and Mrs. John Holt, of Unionville, were visitors in Bellefonte on Wednesday.

Miss Lois Kirk, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. M. A. Kirk, of Bellefonte is on the sick list this week.

Dr. W. W. Feidt, of Bellefonte, has been on the sick list this week, being threatened with pneumonia.

Miss Lillian Rankin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Rankin, left Bellefonte Wednesday for Williamsport.

Miss Helen Hartranft, of Bellefonte, who is a student at the Bloomsburg Normal School, is home on a short vacation.

Mrs. James Coburn, of Bellefonte, left on Wednesday morning for Lock Haven, where she will spend several days with friends.

Mart Garman, of Bellefonte, is improving the appearance of his residence on Curtin Street, by the application of several coats of paint.

Miss Louise Garman, daughter of C. M Garman, who had been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Crider, left on Monday afternoon for her home in Williamsport.

Miss Ethel Dale, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clement Dale, who is a student at the Baltimore College for Women, arrived in Bellefonte on Thursday for a two weeks' vacation.

Announcement was made this week by the Pennsylvania State Board of Examiners for Registration of Nurses that registration has been accorded Miss Artie M. Keller, of Bellefonte.

Mrs. F. H. Thomas left Bellefonte on Tuesday for Huntingdon, where she spent the night with friends. Wednesday she went to Tyrone to attend the missionary convention.

Prof. and Mrs. Walter Hoge MacIntire arrived in Bellefonte from their wedding tour on Thursday of last week. They will go to housekeeping at State College, where Professor MacIntire is a member of the faculty.

Mrs. C. K. Hicklen, of Bellefonte, who had been making an extended visit among friends in Philadelphia, returned home on Saturday afternoon. Her husband looked as bright as a silver dollar. While away she had a most delightful time.

Charles Harrison, who left State College some time ago for Altoona, where he was in business for a while, has decided that the College is good enough for him, and is now making arrangements to return. He will keep a restaurant and resume his catering business.

Ellis Balsinger, one of the students of the Bellefonte Academy, was called to his home at Pittsburg, on Monday, to attend the funeral of a relative. He returned Wednesday. His parents were in Bellefonte recently and were delighted with the town, the people and the Academy.

We note with pleasure that J. C. Bailey, of Pine Grove Mills, this week becomes enrolled as a regular reader of "The Republican." Mr. Bailey is one of the most progressive citizens of his section of the county and we are very glad to have him join the ranks of readers of this newspaper.

Miss Mary H. Linn and Miss Jane McCalmont, of Bellefonte; Mrs. Scott Bailey, of State College; Mrs. James Thompson, of Port Matilda; Mrs. Roy Rearick, Mrs. George Benner and Miss Margaret Goodhart, of Centre Hall, went to Tyrone on Wednesday to attend the annual meeting to the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Huntingdon Presbytery.

Miss Sadie Freeman, aged 29 years, died on Monday morning at Jersey Shore after an illness of but a few days. Her death was due to pneumonia. Deceased was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Freeman, of Bellefonte, and last week visited her parents. She became ill shortly after returning to Jersey Shore and on Monday word was received of her death. The remains were brought to Bellefonte for interment.

One evening last week Mable Barner, of Bellefonte, had Francis Bathurst before Squire W. H. Musser. The charge was assault and battery. It seems they were on their way home from a meeting of the Salvation Army when they became tangled up in an argument about something and Bathurst slapped Miss Barner's mouth. The defendant acknowledgedhis guilt when Squire Musser imposed a fine and placed the costs on him.

On Saturday among the pleasant callers at this office was A. A. Pletcher, one of Howard's best and most progressive citizens. For years he has been a teacher in the schools of Centre county, and we can assure our readers that there is no better. He is a careful student and always tries to keep abreast with his profession. Socially he is a most excellent gentleman, having many friends in Bellefonte who are always glad to see him.

J. P. Sebring, father of Dr. John Sebring, is making extended repairs to the home of the late D. Z. Kline, on Spring street. Many changes are being made to both the exterior and interior of the house which will add to the convenience and comfort of Dr. Sebring and family who will make it their home. One very noticable improvement is the raising of the roof which makes the house look larger and more attractive. What was used as the parlor will be occupied by the Doctor for offices.

W. H. Ghaner, an enterprising citizen of Scotia, was in Bellefonte Monday attending to legal business of the minor children of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Baudis, he being their guardian. Paul and John Baudis and Isaac Ghaner left on the 1.25 train for the state of Saskachuwa, Canada. Several years ago Paul went up into that country, and took up 160 acres of land, built a log hut on it and began tilling the soil. He has it now in good shape and is ready to reap some profits from the crops raised on it. He is about thirty miles from a railroad but before the summer is over the railroad will be built to within eight miles of his section of land. In time both John Baudis and Isaac Ghaner will take up other sections of land, and some day return with their pockets full of coin. All three young men are very enterprising and are certain of success.

Mrs. George Williams, of Bellefonte, spent Sunday with friends at Mill Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Beckwith are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter.

Clarence McClure and Lewis Hill, who are now employed at Renovo, spent Sunday in Bellefonte.

Mrs. Margaret Leggett, head nurse at the Bellefonte hospital, left on Wednesday afternoon for Harrisburg.

The Bellefonte Academy basket ball team defeated the State College, freshmen, on Friday night, last, 79 to 22.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Cook, of West Linn Street, with their daughter, Miss Margaret Cook, will go abroad in May.

Hon. Leonard Rhone, one of the prominent citizens of Centre Hall, was a business visitor in Bellefonte on Wednesday.

Mrs. Samuel Donachy returned to Bellefonte on Wednesday afternoon from Williamsport, where she had been visiting her son, Charles and family.

Mrs. Wm. and Mrs. Jessie Derstine left Bellefonte on Wednesday afternoon for Altoona, where they will spend the week with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Derstine.

Mrs. Wallace, of Clearfield, widow of former United States Senator William A. Wallace, died on Saturday, aged about 80 years. Her funeral took place at Clearfield on Tuesday.

Howard Robb, of Howard, has been engaged to finish the unexpired term of school of Miss Puella Glossner, of Beech Creek, who had been teaching in Curtin township. Miss Glossner gave up teaching on account of illness.

Dr. S. E. Quimby, of Bellefonte, will preach in the Methodist church on Sunday morning. There will also be services in the evening. The new minister, Dr. Yocum, will not be here until a week from the coming Sunday.

On Tuesday evening the ladies of the Cristal Lodge of Rebekahs, of the Centre Lodge of I. O. O. F. held a banquet at the Haag Hotel. Proprietor Henry Kline gave them a nice set out. The ladies thoroughly enjoyed the occasion.

Doctor Greenfell will give a lecture in the Bellefonte Presbyterian church, on Saturday evening, April 1st, with views on the screen of icebergs, iceflows, rocky coast, reindeer and dog teams, etc. This will be an unusual apportunity to hear this heroic physician and missionary. Admission $1 and $1.50.

Delirious Patient on Rampage.

Last week a powerfully built Hungarian was placed in the Firemen's ward, in the Bellefonte Hospital, for treatment. He was suffering from pneumonia, and on Sunday night his temperature began rising until he became violently delirious. Shortly before 1 o'clock in the morning one of the faithful nurses went into his room to see to his comfort, when the sick man grabbed her by the neck and tried to choke her. Her calls for help quickly brought to her assistance James Krape and several other nurses. They made a good fight but were powerless to subdue the giant foreigner.

They finally telephoned for a policeman and Daley Justice went to their rescue. In the meantime the foreigner had taken off an iron rod from the bed and when Officer Justice opened the door he was struck across the hand with the rod. Justice then made a dive for his assailant and succeeded in getting possession of the iron rod and landing him on the floor. Then followed a hard struggle in which the patient was finally conquered, but not until he was placed in a straight jacket. The foreigner is to be pitied rather than censured because he did not know what he was doing.

Baseball at Milesburg.

At a meeting of the directors of the Milesburg Athletic Association, held last week, the following directors were re-elected: O. E. Miles, 7 years; James McCullough, 6 years, Toner A. Hugg, 5 years; Ed. Quick, 4 years; F. S. Wetzler, 3 years; H. Q. Wallace, 2 years; H. J. Kohlbecker 1 year. The board reorganized with the election of the following: James McCullough, president, Ed. Quick, vice president: Toner A Hugg, secretary; O. E. Miles, treasurer; Ed. Quick, manager, and Toner A. Hugg, assistant manager. The following ball players and "fans" were present: Professor S. M. Robb, E. C. Miles, W. B. Miles, Jr., Charles Zimmerman, John Bryan, Claude McCullough and Roy Jones. The Milesburg baseball club has as fine a field as may be found in the valley. The boys play good, clean baseball and should receive most liberal encouragement during the coming season.

Reliable Seeds and Plants.

The long established firm of Henry A. Dreer, 714 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, have increased the size of their GADEN BOOK FOR 1911 to 288 pages, making it a complete guide to flower and vegetable gardening which they willingly send free to all who are interested.

This book should be in the possession of every one who has a garden, and will answer many of the perplexing questions which arise during the growing season. This house is noted for the high quality of their Seeds, Plants, Bulbs, etc., and also carries a full line of Garden Implements, Lawn Mowers, Lawn Rollers, Rakes, Hoes, Fertilizers, etc. If you have not already received a copy of the Garden Book write for it to-day. See advertisement in this issue.
